Kennedy's Smashing Victory In W. Va. Hikes His Stock

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts smashed triumphantly through the West Virginia primary today and headed closer to the Democratic presidential nomination.

His victory after Tuesday's voting knocked Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota out of the race and wiped out claims that, as a Roman Catholic, Kennedy could not win in a heavily Protestant state.

With 2,059 of 2,750 precincts reporting, the scoreboard looked like this: Kennedy 173,113, Humphrey 108,893.

Kennedy also sported the highest number of votes in the Nebraska presidential primary. But the lustre of his possible victory there was dimmed a good deal by the write-in total for Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the Republican ballot.

The only name listed on the Nebraska presidential preference ballot for either party was Kennedy. Yet Nixon was piling up as many write-in votes as Kennedy received on the regular ballot.

New Mexico also voted in a primary Tuesday. But the results had no effect on the presidential picture.

Humphrey conceded defeat at 1:08 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, and then issued a statement, saying:

"I am no longer a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination."

Kennedy, who flew back from Washington early today, was jubilant over the results.

"I had no doubt that you would cast your vote on the basis of the issues and not on any religious prejudice," he added.

Kennedy has put other aspirants for the Democratic nomination in a deep hole. He has put the squeeze on heads of big convention delegations who have been holding out against him on the principal grounds that a man of his faith couldn't win in November.

He has, in other words, got his convention bandwagon rolling at top speed. It will be difficult for his major rivals, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), to stop it.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who called Kennedy's West Virginia triumph in advance, already has given notice he plans to begin campaigning at once, as if he and the Massachusetts senator already were the rival presidential nominees.

Nothing could have been more convincing to the politicians than the way Kennedy mopped up in every section of West Virginia in corraling 60 per cent of the total vote.

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A plucky woman hostage broke up a 20-hour siege Tuesday when she grabbed two pistols from a Bible-reading gunman and broke for police lines.

The gunman, James W. Owens, 34, raced after the woman and was wrestled to the ground by four of the 50 policemen who surrounded the house Owens commandeered Monday.

Owens' hostage was Laverne Midgett, 25, a girl friend brought from Stockton to try to persuade him to give up.

Owens, a Negro, who is married and has nine children, let Miss Midgett come into the house but grabbed her as she started to leave.

The ordeal began Monday as two officers took Owens, who said voices warned him that "everyone wants to kill me," to Yuba County Hospital for a mental examination after he tried to drink a bottle of bleach.

While at the hospital, Owens grabbed the revolver of one of the officers, and then forced the other to turn over his weapon.

Owens ran into the home of James Brown, who later escaped. During the next 20 hours, officers erected sandbag barricades around the house and tried to talk the gunman out.

During the long standoff, Owens alternately fingered his weapons, threatened officers, read from a Bible and muttered prayers. He finally dozed and Miss Midgett broke from the house, a pistol in each hand.

Khrush Cools A Little on Visit by Ike

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today the spy plane incident had changed his estimate of President Eisenhower and they will discuss in Paris whether the American leader should come to Moscow as planned.

He made the statement as he stood on a wicker chair talking to correspondents amid the wreckage of the American plane he claims was shot down May 1 east of the Urals.

One of the newsmen asked him point blank: "Do you want Eisenhower to come here in view of the plane incident?"

"What do you want me to say?" Khrushchev asked. "You get in to my place here and reply for me."

An American correspondent then asked whether, in view of his changed attitude toward Eisenhower, he would want him to postpone the visit to the Soviet Union now scheduled for June 10.

"I would not like to comment," the Premier said. "We can exchange views with the President on that in Paris."

Khrushchev was asked: "Does this spy plane incident change your estimate of Eisenhower?"

"It does, of course," he replied. "I was not aware of the fact that the plan was not the capture of an individual officer. I was horrified to learn that the President had approved the plan of these flights."

Khrushchev said the flight had been approved by Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and under the direction of the President.

"Don't expect me after that to say what nice people these are," he announced he is leaving Saturday for the summit conference in Paris opening May 16.

The Soviet Union denounced the flight, by Francis G. Powers, as an act of aggression and put what they said was his equipment, documents and photographs on display in Gorki Park.

Among the items displayed in the Gorki Park exhibit was a hypodermic needle which Khrushchev said Powers carried. The Premier told Parliament last week that Powers was under orders to kill himself to avoid capture, but "living things want to go on living."

The equipment was displayed at a news conference where Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said any aircraft which "again dare to make a sortie into our borders will be smothered to smithereens."

He reiterated that nations furnishing bases for spy flights will have those bases obliterated.

World-Circling Submarine Triton Is Cheered on Return to Home Port

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—The world-circling submarine Triton came back home today to the strains of the tune "Around the World in 80 days" and cheers from jubilant families.

As the 7,750-ton giant was nosed alongside the pier, wives of the crew waved and held high their small sons and daughters who have been waiting to see their fathers for almost three months—a period in which the nuclear-powered Triton circled the world under water.

The wife of the skipper, Mrs. Edward L. Beach, held a bouquet of red roses and pushed her three children forward to wave at their father.

The children—Ned, 12; Hugh, 11; and Ingrid, 7—held up red-lettered signs that said: "Welcome home Triton."

The white-clad landing crew stood at attention in the rain as the huge, gray submarine pulled alongside within a few feet of a platform of high officials waiting to greet the crew and officers who left here Feb. 16 on a secret mission.

It was a mission that took the Triton along the route of Ferdinand Magellan's first trip around the world and which won a Presidential Citation.

When Triton surfaced off Delaware Tuesday it had completed a 41,500-mile submerged trip that began 83 days, 10 hours and 15 minutes before. It had retraced the course Ferdinand Magellan charted 420 years ago.

Its commander, veteran submarine Capt. Edward L. Beach, was plucked from Triton's rolling deck by helicopter and flown to the White House, where a grinning President Eisenhower commended him and pinned on his tunic the Legion of Merit.

Triton throbbed on northward this morning toward home base, New London, Conn., where its out-sized crew of 182 officers and men were due for a well-deserved shore leave.

No one mentioned it, but the Triton's world-girdling feat was timed nicely to give the President a boost at the Paris summit conference, which starts next Monday.

Beach, 42, jut-jawed and crew-cut, is the picture of a modern naval officer. Decorated several times for submarine forays against Japan in World War II, he is both a fighting man and a writing man. His "Submarine" was a personal account of his wartime service in the Trigger. He followed it with a spine-tingling novel, "Run Silent, Run Deep."

Dems Study Return to Old Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats may propose a return to the farm programs of the Roosevelt-Truman administration to win farm votes in this year's elections.

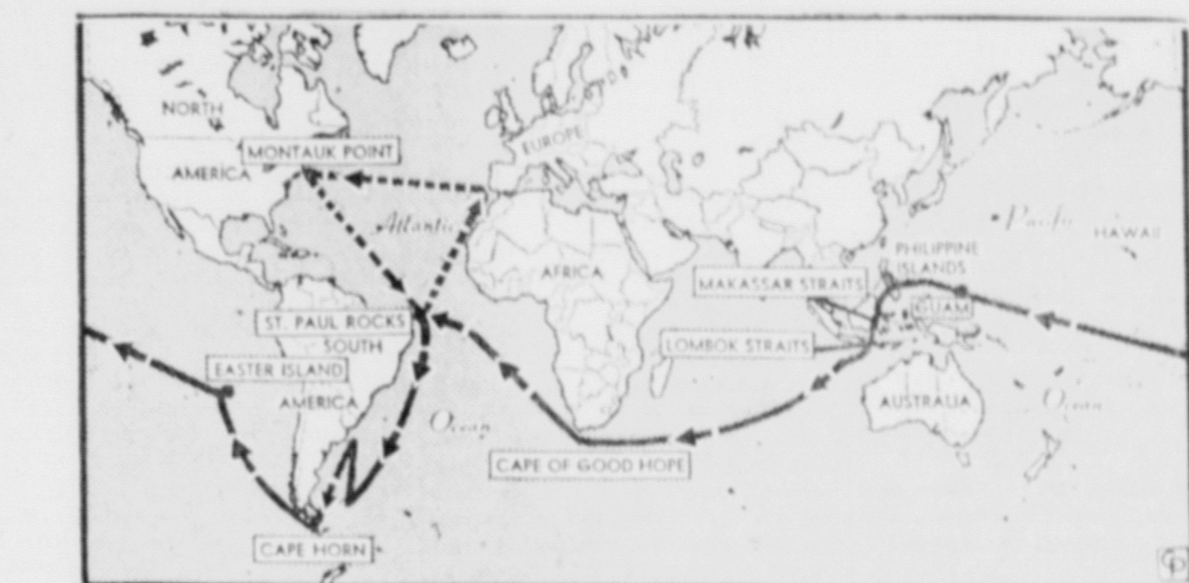

A 24-member advisory committee on Democratic farm policy proposed Tuesday that the government return farm price support levels to 90 per cent of parity and impose more rigid crop controls to halt accumulation of surpluses.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices charged them.

Production controls and supports at these levels were the keystones of farm programs evolved under Democratic Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman.

The Eisenhower administration, which inherited them, has backed away from them, contending they encouraged overexpansion of farm productive capacity with resulting surpluses.

The committee recommendations will be laid before the Democrats' platform drafters at the party's national convention in Los Angeles in July.

HISTORIC UNDERCOVER TRIP — This is the history-making trip the U.S. nuclear submarine Triton made in running undetected for 83 days, 10 hours and 15 minutes on a 41,519 mile undersea voyage around the world. The journey roughly followed Magellan's 411-year old course.

Cramped Leg Results in Freak Crash

An unusual circumstance caused a freak accident at Russell College's service station on W. Main St. at 9:37 a. m. today.

Ben H. Smith, Zanesville, was the unlucky driver of the car involved. He was lucky to the extent he was not injured, but three gasoline pumps at the station didn't fare so well.

Smith said he suddenly suffered a cramp in his leg as he was pulling into the station driveway. A sudden movement of the cramped leg resulted in his foot striking a heavy blow on the car's accelerator.

Smith said before he knew what happened, the car smashed into the three gasoline pumps. Patrolmen William Brungs and Gerald Goldsberry said all three of the pumps were broken.

Goldsberry and Brungs said the left side of the car was damaged. There was no immediate estimate of damage to the gasoline pumps.

New Driver's License Given To Man of 98

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — John Charles Darst has a new Ohio driver's license even though he doesn't drive anymore—hasn't for two years.

"Not that I couldn't drive right now as well as the next fellow," he asserts stoutly, "but my children used to worry about me, so I quit to humor them."

White-bearded Darst will be 99 a week from today.

He retired from the railroad mail service in 1917, just a year after he bought his first car—a 1916 Maxwell.

"I always held more with horses and buggies," says Darst, "but my wife insisted that we get one of those new-fangled cars and then she was afraid to drive it. So I had to."

He figures he's driven in 48 states and says he's never had a serious accident. He confides: "The trick is to keep in your own lane and mind your own business."

As for speed: "I say 40 is fast enough for anybody, although I used to nudge it up to 50 sometimes, myself."

Atom Plant Workers Approve New Contract

WAYERLY, Ohio (AP)—Members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union have accepted a new contract agreement at the Goodyear Atomic Corp. plant in nearby Piketon.

By a vote of 469 to 267 Tuesday the workers ratified the agreement set Sunday by negotiators. The contract still is to be approved by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Nashville Lunch Counters Try Integration on Test Basis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six Nashville stores have begun serving Negroes at previously all-white lunch counters on a partially integrated basis.

Small groups of Negroes sat without incident at the six counters Tuesday under a previously secret agreement to serve them during slack periods. Others planned a second test of the plan today.

Officials of the six Nashville stores said they reached an agreement with white and Negro civic leaders to serve Negro customers at the previously all-white counters during slack periods. The agreement was not announced in advance.

All six stores had closed their counters at various times in recent months during sit-in demonstrations which resulted in the arrest of nearly 150 Negroes.

As part of the agreement, Negroes ended a boycott of downtown stores which store officials said had not been effective. They said the agreement was made to bring an end to the threat of violence which had caused many customers to shift their business to suburban shopping centers.

A demonstration by about 200 Negroes in Winston-Salem, N.C., resulted in two arrests. But a temporary truce was arranged by City Manager John D. Gold who agreed to call a meeting of store managers and Negro protest leaders.

Lunch counters in three

Winston-Salem stores and one in Durham, N.C., were closed when the demonstrators crowded in demanding service.

Conviction of Dr. Richard Nesmith of MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill., who ate lunch with Negroes in Montgomery, Ala., may have set the stage for a test of a new city law enacted to deal with racial incidents.

Nesmith was fined $100 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct. His wife and 10 white students were acquitted. All were charged under a new city ordinance which makes disorderly conduct any act "calculated to provoke a breach of peace."

The separate trial of seven Negroes and another white student who ate with the Illinois party, is still in progress in another court.

U.S. Defense Command Misses Red Sky-Spy

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—If the Soviet Union has sent aerial spies over the continental United States or Alaska, the North American Air Defense Command says it has no knowledge or report of it.

A NORAD spokesman made the comment Tuesday in response to calls prompted by the downing of what Soviet leaders say was an American-built jet on an intelligence flight.

Discrepancies In Soviet Spy Story Detailed

President Still Thinks Some Good To Come From Summit Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower challenged the Soviet Union again today to join this country in opening its skies to inspection flights which might give each assurance against surprise attack.

In a news conference review of the furor over Russian capture of an American spy plane, the President called espionage "a distasteful but vital necessity" lest there be another sneak blow such as the 1941 Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Eisenhower said the Soviet "fetish of secrecy and concealment" is a major cause of international tension and uneasiness, and forces the United States to engage in "below the surface" activities to gain information to protect the Free World.

"We prefer and work for a different kind of world—and a different way of obtaining the information essential to confidence said.

"Open societies, in the day of present weapons, are the only answer."

"This was the reason for my 'open skies' proposal in 1955, which I was ready instantly to put into effect—to permit aerial observation over the United States and the Soviet Union which would assure that no surprise attack was being prepared against anyone."

"I shall bring up the 'open skies' proposal again at Paris—since it is a means of ending concealment and suspicion."

Eisenhower said he still is hopeful—despite the furor over the plane incident—that the Paris summit meeting starting Monday will accomplish some good and help ease international tensions.

At the start of the news conference, Eisenhower read a prepared statement dealing with the American U2 plane which the Russians claim to have shot down from an altitude in excess of 60,000 feet.

In his statement, the President spoke of discrepancies in the Soviet account of shooting down the plane and capture of the American pilot, Francis G. Powers.

Explaining, Eisenhower said there is "some reason to believe that the plane was not shot down at high altitude."

In response to a request for elaboration about his mention of discrepancies in the Soviet account, Eisenhower referred to the photographs which the Russians released as pictures of the wreckage of the plane.

This government, Eisenhower said, believes that the pictures produced by the Russians are not actually photographs of the U2.

After he read his prepared statement, Eisenhower said he would have nothing further to say regarding the plane episode. But about a dozen questions were asked which dealt with at least the fringe of the episode, and he replied to all.

For example, he was reminded that he has said many times that he would not go to a summit conference. (Continued on Page 2)

New 20th Army Boss Is Awaited

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Maj. Gen. Charles E. Beauchamp expects to report to Ft. Hayes, Columbus, about June 15 to assume his duties as newly designated commanding general of the 20th U.S. Army Corps.

The general left Korea by air Tuesday. He has commanded the 1st Cavalry Division there since April, 1959.

He succeeds Maj. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, who retired from the Army April 30, and Col. Theodore R. Kimpton, who is commanding the 20th Corps in the interim.

Before reporting at Columbus, Gen. Beauchamp will take a leave and attend conferences at the Pentagon.

Air Force To Continue Operating Clinton Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says it will continue operating its Clinton County base at sea level—despite curtailed activities there.

This was disclosed today in the transcript of testimony made public by a House appropriations subcommittee.

Subcommittee members had expressed concern at the Air Force's sudden abandonment of a plan to spend three million dollars on military housing along there in the coming year.

They also questioned whether this kind of planning doesn't involve a lot of wasted money that could have been saved if the decision had been made a year ago.

Brig. Gen. Augustus M. Minton replied that it was simply a matter of deciding that the KC-97 tanker planes there are becoming obsolete.

The Air Force also placed in the hearing record a statement on the Clinton base by Brig. Gen. Joseph T. Kingsley Jr.

"The Air Force Reserve mission is planned to continue for the foreseeable future," Kingsley said. "We are planning to begin beginning this summer to now plan to stage in 12 to 15 KC-97's."

These aircraft and their crews will not be permanently assigned but will remain for a staging period and then be relieved by other aircraft and crews."

It was Rep. Jamie L. Whitten (D-Miss.) who raised the question about possible waste.

He told Minton that he thought Minton himself, as chief of civil engineering for the Air Force, has done a good job in general.

He also asked how much money has been spent on the Clinton base. The answer was, from 1955 to now, about 25 million dollars.

Minton said the Air Force did manage to hold up advertisements for bids on the housing last January.

"We had a tremendous amount of pressure to go ahead, but they were held up because there was a bit of suspicion about this base," Minton said.

Accident Case Enters 3rd Day

Teegardin, McCain Trial Nears End

The plaintiff, Mrs. Paul W. Teegardin, Route 2, Ashville yesterday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court rested her case against Mrs. Ralph McCain, Route 2, Ashville.

The petit jury trial entered its third day this morning as the defendant, represented by Lloyd E. Bilger, Columbus, and Joseph W. Adkins Jr., 216 S. Court St., was presenting her side of the accident.

Mrs. Teegardin is suing Mrs. McCain for $25,000 damages as a result of an accident which occurred at 5:15 p. m. July 16, 1952 on the Ashville - Marcy Road, near St. Paul, in front of the McCain home.

Following the testimony of Mrs. Teegardin and her son, Paul L. Jr., Dr. Kenneth H. Retter, a Columbus physician who examined and treated Mrs. Teegardin in 1954, took the stand yesterday.

According to previous testimony by Mrs. Teegardin, she suffered a re-occurrence of her accident injury in 1954, resulting in further hospital care. Dr. Retter testified as to her back condition relative to the medical basis of Mrs. Teegardin's injury claim.

Next witness was Lloyd Weaver, S. Pickaway St., a passenger in the Teegardin automobile at the time of the accident. He related his knowledge of the accident.

He said that immediately after the accident, "I thought I was just sweating." He stated he ran down the road after the collision, for no known reason, but returned quickly to find occupants of both cars unconscious.

Mrs. Teegardin's husband, Paul W., testified on receiving a call from his wife about the accident and taking her to the hospital. He related the position of both cars and told of his wife's illnesses as a result of the collision.

Dr. Paul C. Routzahn, 229 N. Court St., next testified about treating Mrs. Teegardin from 1953 to date.

Carol E. Teegardin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Teegardin, told of being a passenger in the car. She said Mrs. McCain crossed in front of their auto, causing the collision. She also testified as to her mother's condition.

ATTORNEYS FOR Mrs. Teegardin, Daniel S. Earhart, Columbus, and Lemuel B. Weldon, 210 S. Court St., rested their case after Miss Teegardin's testimony.

The defendant's attorney, Bilger, asked for a directed verdict in favor of his client, Presiding Judge William Ammer overruled the motion. Judge Ammer then recessed the trial until today.

Mrs. McCain was the first defense witness. She admitted making a left-hand turn and crossing the highway in front of the Teegardin auto.

But Mrs. McCain maintained that the accident happened off the paved portion of the highway. She said it occurred on the 12-foot gravel portion off the road and in front of her house.

There is a dispute over who owns the gravel portion—the state or the McCain's.

Ralph McCain, husband of the defendant, Zora, next testified. He said he was in the house when it occurred. He stated he heard the

Ike Says Nation's Economy Tops Half-Trillion Dollars

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today announced that the nation's economy has passed the half-trillion-dollar mark for the first time in history.

The President also disclosed at his news conference that employment last month scored the biggest April gain since World War II.

Reading from notes, Eisenhower took advantage of a question about housing legislation to discuss the economic picture which has been causing puzzlement and concern in many quarters since the first of the year.

Eisenhower said employment increased by 1,900,000 in April to 66,200,000.

He said unemployment dropped sharply—falling by more than half a million.

Eisenhower's disclosure of the favorable employment report, it was pushed up a day to give the President something good to announce amid all the criticism of the handling of the American spy flight over Russia.

The government had planned to announce the new job figures Thursday. The job data is rarely handled out of the White House.

Eisenhower gave only the outline figures in round numbers, leaving the details for an announcement given out shortly afterward at the Labor Department.

That report said employment rose from 64,267,000 to a new record for the month of April at 66,200,000, an increase of 1,932,000 over March.

Unemployment declined by 546,000 from 4,206,000 in March to 3,660,000 in April.

The increase in employment was triple the increase seasonal expected. The unemployment decline was double the seasonally expected drop.

The favorable April figures were tempered, however, by the fact that the data for March were abnormally bad because of severe late season weather. Also the April job count was taken in a favorable reporting week when trade employment was unusually screaming of brakes, the collision and saw gravel fly. He also maintained the accident happened on the gravel, not the paved portion of the road.

MRS. MARJORIE Pickering, sister of Mrs. McCain and an elementary teacher at Walnut Twp. School, took the stand. She was the sole passenger in the McCain car when the accident occurred.

She said they were returning from White Cross Hospital, Columbus, after visiting her now deceased husband. She said the accident happened in the gravel portion of the road as the McCain car was headed toward the driveway.

Both Mrs. Pickering and Mrs. McCain also testified to a statement made by Mrs. Teegardin following the accident. They said Mrs. Teegardin remarked, "If my son hadn't been driving so fast and the sun hadn't gotten into his eyes, this accident wouldn't have occurred."

Mrs. Teegardin earlier, under direct examination, denied making this statement. The trial recessed at 11 a. m. today to resume at 1 p. m. with Dr. Robert G. Smith, 212 E. Franklin St., scheduled to take the stand.

high just before Easter.

Another moderating factor in the April job report is that the rate of unemployment to the total work force is 5 per cent. This is a decline from the 5.4 per cent rate of March, but not as good as the 4.8 per cent February rate.

These figures mean that 95 per cent of Americans seeking work had jobs in April, compared with 94.6 per cent in March and 95.2 per cent in February.

FPC Chairman Admits Phone Call Improper

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jerome K. Kuykendall, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, conceded he got an improper private phone call about a gas pipeline case from lawyer Thomas G. Corcoran.

Why didn't Kuykendall report this when it happened, House committee members asked him Tuesday. Kuykendall had this explanation.

Corcoran was a prominent Democrat. Kuykendall was a Republican appointee to the FPC. People would have thought "I was gunning for him," Kuykendall said.

"I would have been publicized as pulling the lowest sort of trick." The FPC chairman was recalled about a half-dozen such "ex parte" contacts he says he has had with industry figures.

The Corcoran phone call was last October. It was improper, Kuykendall said, because Corcoran brought up the rate of return his pipeline company wanted—a matter the FPC had not yet decided. Kuykendall reported the call to Robert Lishman, counsel for the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee, only after it was disclosed in an industry trade publication.

Corcoran, an intimate adviser to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, is Washington counsel or Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., parent firm of Midwestern Gas Transmission Co., which got FPC permission to import gas from Canada.

Shortly after its discovery by the French in 1905, Nova Scotia had its first social club. It was founded by Champlain to relieve "the boredom of wilderness life." It was called "The Order of the Good Time."

Asked whether he regarded that as a threat in the category he had mentioned previously in relation to the summit meeting, Eisenhower replied that he did not. That particular threat, he went on, belongs in a special category and should not be regarded as an ultimatum.

In his prepared statement, Eisenhower touched on these points: The need for intelligence-collection activities, the nature of these activities, how should we view them and that the United States must not be distracted from the current real problems of the world.

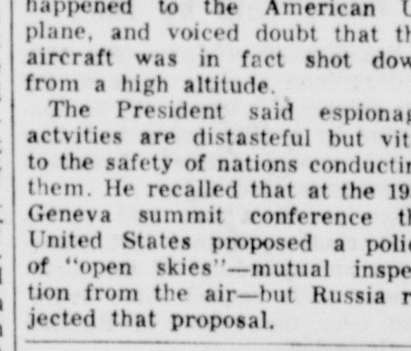

On the point of need for intelligence, Eisenhower said no one wants another Pearl Harbor. This country, he went on, needs to have knowledge that will protect the nation's security.

The President said the Soviets make a "fetish of secrecy and concealment," and that this is a major cause of international tension today.

He spoke of gathering intelligence as a war deterrent. As for the nature of intelligence activities, they are of a special and secret character, he said. Such activities are intended to protect a nation's own military establishment, but at the same time are activities divorced from the military establishment.

We do not use the Army, Navy or Air Force in this intelligence-seeking program, the President said. It was at this point that Eisenhower spoke of discrepancies in the Soviet account of what happened to the American U2 plane, and voiced doubt that the aircraft was in fact shot down from a high altitude.

The President said espionage activities are distasteful but vital to the safety of nations conducting them. He recalled that at the 1955 Geneva summit conference the United States proposed a policy of "open skies"—mutual inspection from the air—but Russia rejected that proposal.

The crewmen were able to catch a glimpse by periscope of the monument that marks the spot where Magellan died on Mactan Island in the Philippines. And on the way home the sub came awash to the surface to pay homage to Magellan's point of departure, Cadiz, Spain.

Only one other time did the Triton "broach," or come up with its conning tower out of the water. This was off Argentina, where it made rendezvous with the cruiser Macon to remove a crewman seriously ill from kidney stones.

The ill crewman was sworn to secrecy about Triton's mission, and those aboard the Macon, perishing with curiosity, learned nothing of what it was up to. At no time during the voyage, Beach believes, was the Triton identified, although it startled several fishermen in the Philippines when it poked up its periscope for a look.

The Triton is a radar picket ship, a submersible electronic island, that can act as a distant warning sentinel against enemy bombers. It does not fire missiles, as the new Polaris subs are equipped to do.

Air Force To Continue Operating Clinton Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says it will continue operating its Clinton County base at sea level—despite curtailed activities there.

This was disclosed today in the transcript of testimony made public by a House appropriations subcommittee.

Subcommittee members had expressed concern at the Air Force's sudden abandonment of a plan to spend three million dollars on military housing alone there in the coming year.

They also questioned whether this kind of planning doesn't involve a lot of wasted money that could have been saved if the decision had been made a year ago.

Brig. Gen. Augustus M. Minton replied that it was simply a matter of deciding that the KC-97 tanker planes there are becoming obsolete.

The Air Force also placed in the hearing record a statement on the Clinton base by Brig. Gen. Joseph T. Kingsley Jr.

"The Air Force Reserve mission is planned to continue for the foreseeable future," Kingsley said. "The KC-97 tankers (about 30 planes) of KC-97 tankers to the base beginning this summer we now plan to stage in 12 to 15 KC-97's."

"These aircraft and their crews will not be permanently assigned but will remain for a staging period and then be relieved by other aircraft and crews."

It was Rep. Jamie L. Whitten (D-Miss.) who raised the question about possible waste.

He told Minton that he thought Minton himself, as chief of civil engineering for the Air Force, has done a good job in general.

He also asked how much money has been spent on the Clinton base. The answer was, from 1955 to now, about 25 million dollars.

Minton said the Air Force did manage to hold up advertisements for bids on the housing last January.

"We had a tremendous amount of pressure to go ahead, but they were held up because there was a bit of suspicion about this base," Minton said.

Bolton To Head Bonus Commission

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Korean Bonus Commission unanimously has chosen Walter U. Bolton, Newark attorney, to head the commission.

He succeeds Maj. Gen. Chester W. Goble who resigned as non-salaried director in protest over the discharge of 11 of the 23 staff members.

Following Tuesday's action, Finance Director James H. Maloon said Bolton probably would continue as a $7,500-a-year attorney for the commission in addition to taking the director's post.

Bolton agreed to determine whether the commission could complete its work without the 11 employees and report on it Friday.

Accident Case Enters 3rd Day

Teegardin, McCain Trial Nears End

The plaintiff, Mrs. Paul W. Teegardin, Route 2, Ashville yesterday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court rested her case against Mrs. Ralph McCain, Route 2, Ashville.

The petit jury trial entered its third day this morning as the defendant, represented by Lloyd E. Bilger, Columbus, and Joseph W. Adkins Jr., 216 S. Court St., was presenting her side of the accident.

Mrs. Teegardin is suing Mrs. McCain for $25,000 damages as a result of an accident which occurred at 5:15 p. m. July 16, 1952 on the Ashville - Marcy Road, near St. Paul, in front of the McCain home.

Following the testimony of Mrs. Teegardin and her son, Paul L. Jr., Dr. Kenneth H. Retter, a Columbus physician who examined and treated Mrs. Teegardin in 1954, took the stand yesterday.

According to previous testimony by Mrs. Teegardin, she suffered a re-occurrence of her accident injury in 1954, resulting in further hospital care. Dr. Retter testified as to her back condition relative to the medical basis of Mrs. Teegardin's injury claim.

Next witness was Lloyd Weaver, S. Pickaway St., a passenger in the Teegardin automobile at the time of the accident. He related his knowledge of the accident.

He said that immediately after the accident, "I thought I was bleeding until I realized it was just sweat". He stated he ran down the road after the collision, for no known reason, but returned quickly to find occupants of both cars unconscious.

Mrs. Teegardin's husband, Paul W., testified on receiving a call from his wife about the accident and taking her to the hospital. He related the position of both cars and told of his wife's illnesses as a result of the collision.

Dr. Paul C. Routzahn, 229 N. Court St., next testified about treating Mrs. Teegardin from 1953 to date.

Carol E. Teegardin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Teegardin, told of being a passenger in the car. She said Mrs. McCain crossed in front of their auto, causing the collision. She also testified as to her mother's condition.

ATTORNEYS for Mrs. Teegardin, Daniel S. Earhart, Columbus, and Lemuel B. Weldon, 210 S. Court St., rested their case after Miss Teegardin's testimony.

The defendant's attorney, Bilger, asked for a directed verdict in favor of his client. Presiding Judge William Ammer overruled the motion. Judge Ammer then recessed the trial until today.

Mrs. McCain was the first defense witness. She admitted making a left-hand turn and crossing the highway in front of the Teegardin auto.

But Mrs. McCain maintained that the accident happened off the paved portion of the highway. She said it occurred on the 12-foot gravel portion off the road and in front of her house.

There is a dispute over who owns the gravel portion—the state or the McCains.

Ralph McCain, husband of the defendant, Zora, next testified. He said he was in the house when it occurred. He stated he heard the

Ike Says Nation's Economy Tops Half-Trillion Dollars

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today announced that the nation's economy has passed the half-trillion-dollar mark for the first time in history.

The President also disclosed at his news conference that employment last month scored the biggest April gain since World War II.

Reading from notes, Eisenhower took advantage of a question about housing legislation to discuss the economic picture which has been causing puzzlement and concern in many quarters since the first of the year.

Eisenhower said employment increased by 1,900,000 in April to 66,200,000.

He said unemployment dropped sharply—falling by more than half a million.

Eisenhower's disclosure of the favorable employment report, it was pushed up a day to give the President something good to announce amid all the criticism of the handling of the American spy flight over Russia.

The government had planned to announce the new job figures Thursday. The job data is rarely handled out of the White House.

Eisenhower gave only the outline figures in round numbers, leaving the details for an announcement given out shortly after the Labor Department.

That report said employment rose from 64,267,000 to a new record for the month of April at 66,199,000, an increase of 1,932,000 over March.

Unemployment declined by 546,000 from 4,206,000 in March to 3,660,000 in April.

The increase in employment was triple the increase seasonally expected. The unemployment decline was double the seasonally expected drop.

The favorable April figures were tempered, however, by the fact that the data for March were abnormally low because of severe late season weather. Also the April job count was taken in a favorable reporting week when trade employment was unusually screeching of brakes, the collision and saw gravel fly. He also maintained the accident happened on the gravel, not the paved portion of the road.

MRS. MARJORIE Pickering, sister of Mrs. McCain and an elementary teacher at Walnut Twp. School, took the stand. She was the sole passenger in the McCain car when the accident occurred.

She said they were returning from White Cross Hospital, Columbus, after visiting her now deceased husband. She said the accident happened in the gravel portion of the road as the McCain car was headed toward the driveway.

Both Mrs. Pickering and Mrs. McCain also testified to a statement made by Mrs. Teegardin following the accident. They said Mrs. Teegardin remarked, "If my son hadn't been driving so fast and the sun hadn't gotten into his eyes, this accident wouldn't have occurred."

Mrs. Teegardin earlier, under direct examination, denied making this statement. The trial recessed at 11 a. m. today to resume at 1 p. m. of Dr. Robert G. Smith, 212 E. Franklin St., scheduled to take the stand.

high just before Easter.

Another moderating factor in the April job report is that the rate of unemployment to the total work force is 5 per cent. This is a decline from the 5.4 per cent rate of March, but not as good as the 4.8 per cent February rate.

These figures mean that 95 per cent of Americans seeking work had jobs in April, compared with 94.6 per cent in March and 95.2 per cent in February.

FPC Chairman Admits Phone Call Improper

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jerome K. Kuykendall, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, concedes he got an improper private phone call about a gas pipeline case from lawyer Thomas G. Corcoran.

Why didn't Kuykendall report this when it happened, House committee members asked him Tuesday. Kuykendall had this explanation.

Corcoran was a prominent Democrat. Kuykendall was a Republican appointee to the FPC. People would have thought "I was gunning for him," Kuykendall said.

"I would have been publicized as pulling the lowest sort of trick."

The FPC chairman was recalled about a half-dozen such "ex parte" contacts he says he has had with industry figures.

The Corcoran phone call was last October. It was improper, Kuykendall said, because Corcoran brought up the rate of return his pipeline company wanted—a matter the FPC had not yet decided. Kuykendall reported the call to Robert Lishman, counsel for the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee, only after it was disclosed in an gas industry trade publication.

Corcoran, an intimate adviser to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, is Washington counsel or Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., parent firm of Midwestern Gas Transmission Co., which got FPC permission to import gas from Canada.

Shortly after its discovery by the French in 1905, Nova Scotia had its first social club. It was founded by Champlain to relieve "the boredom of wilderness life." It was called "The Order of the Good Time."

ference under the circumstances of any Soviet threat or ultimatum. A newsman noted that the Soviet government Tuesday threatened to retaliate against the United States if it continued to send spy planes over Russia.

Asked whether he regarded that as a threat in the category he had mentioned previously in relation to the summit meeting, Eisenhower replied that he did not. That particular threat, he went on, belongs in a special category and should not be regarded as an ultimatum.

In his prepared statement, Eisenhower touched on these points: The need for intelligence-collection activities, the nature of these activities, how should we view them and that the United States must not be distracted from the current real problems of the world.

On the point of need for intelligence, Eisenhower said no one wants another Pearl Harbor. This country, he went on, needs to have knowledge that will protect the nation's security.

The President said the Soviets make a "fetish of secrecy and concealment," and that this is a major cause of international tension today.

He spoke of gathering intelligence as a war deterrent.

As for the nature of intelligence activities, they are of a special and secret character, he said. Such activities are intended to protect a nation's own military establishment, but at the same time are activities divorced from the military establishment.

We do not use the Army, Navy or Air Force in this intelligence-seeking program, the President said. It was at this point that Eisenhower spoke of discrepancies in the Soviet account of what happened to the American U2 plane, and voiced doubt that the aircraft was in fact shot down from a high altitude.

The President said espionage activities are distasteful but vital to the safety of nations conducting them. He recalled that at the 1955 Geneva summit conference the United States proposed a policy of "open skies"—mutual inspection from the air—but Russia rejected that proposal.

It took Magellan's ship three years.

The crewmen were able to catch a glimpse by periscope of the monument that marks the spot where Magellan died on Mactan Island in the Philippines. And on the way home the sub came awash to the surface to pay homage to Magellan's point of departure, Cadiz, Spain.

Only one other time did the Triton "broach," or come up with its conning tower out of the water. This was off Argentina, where it made rendezvous with the cruiser Macon to remove a crewman seriously ill from kidney stones.

The ill crewman was sworn to secrecy about Triton's mission, and those aboard the Macon, perishing with curiosity, learned nothing of what it was up to. At no time during the voyage, Beach believes, was the Triton identified, although it startled several fishermen in the Philippines when it poked up its periscope for a look.

The Triton is a radar picket ship, a submersible "electronic island," that can act as a distant warning sentinel against enemy bombers. It does not fire missiles, as the new Polaris subs are equipped to do.

Need Educational Depth

Expertness, the unusual ability to become greatly proficient in one endeavor, necessarily to the exclusion of most others, is largely a lost art in an age of mechanization, automation and the evolution of trades and crafts into large, multi-service business establishments. Revision of teaching methods has followed the social trend and at times seems to lead the way from concentrated study into a "well-rounded" education ranging from foreign languages to woodworking.

Frequently is heard an educator's warning that the generation now going through the public school systems and institutions of higher learning must broaden its academic vision to include areas far removed from the contemplated line of work. An noted educator now takes his fellow pedagogues to task for this advice and asks instead that they emphasize "proficiency, mastery and plain hard work."

Chancellor George D. Stoddard of New York University informed an audience of 300 representatives of 17 colleges that the English teaching system which "aims at narrow and deep, rather than broad and shallow knowledge" produces experts and not citizens well versed in the super-ficialities, but ill-equipped to dive to any intellectual depths.

A striking paradox is formed by the insistence of liberal arts courses in colleges, and pre-college training in high school, to disperse the relatively few years of formal education over a wide range of topics — including many far removed from the realm of practical instruction — at a time when the requirements of business and the professions are toward more restricted specialization.

Medicine, engineering, law, communications, electronics, physics and the arts are prime examples of professions no longer seeking the services of jacks-of-all-trades.

Technological advancements and insistence upon finicky accuracy are among the forces shaping a world of specialization. Certainly, intelligent beings need at least an introduction to diverse avenues of life if they are to understand the world of which they are a part. The pendulum need not swing to the other extreme, but in place of a heavy schedule of credit requirements far removed from intellectual achievement colleges might be better advised to offer, as Chancellor Stoddard suggests, "a limited number of subjects for a given student but opportunity for the student to study each subject intensely over a long period of time."

Answer to Woes: Simple Living

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — One of Hollywood's most celebrated farmers feels the answer to civilization's woes is a return to simple living.

"The things the world most needs are simplicity, honesty and decency—and you find them more often in the country than in the city," said James Cagney.

The Manhattan-born actor, son of a bartender, saw his first cow on a visit to rural Long Island at the age of 6, and says he has been "country-crazy" ever since.

"My feeling for the country goes beyond sense," he said. "I don't like to be in the cities at all. I like to be where animals are—and things growing."

Jimmy said the first thing he "Of miserable apprehension," did when he got a few dollars ahead was to buy a farm on Martha's Vineyard, an island off the Massachusetts coast.

"I told everybody it was a place to fall," he said. "Most actors are bums. They need a place to fall. How many actors do you know today who were working 25 years ago?"

Unemployment hasn't exactly been a major curse in Cagney's own life, however. The red-haired ex-vaudeville hooper has won an Oscar and appeared in 90 films in the last 30 years.

As he prospered, Jim bought more places to fall back on. In addition to his island farm, he now has a home in Beverly Hills, a horse ranch in California and a cattle breeding farm in New York State.

Cagney first won screen immor-talities by gangster roles and by pushing half a grapefruit into Mae Clarke's pretty face. In real life he is gentle, soft-voiced and more interested in discussing philosophy than in acting.

Jimmy and his wife—she calls her "Bill"—have two adopted children: James Jr., 20, now in the Marines; and Cathleen, 19, a student.

It isn't generally known, but Jimmy's hobby is writing verse, which he scribbles in great quantity but never has published.

"They're just for me," he said. Here's a sample, that expresses his philosophy:

"The lovers of hate, born in fear,
Find no release from tension.
They spend their lives in a permanent state

No Time for Medical Secrets

By George Sokolsky

Rich men do not always know what to do with their money, particularly after they die. They work hard accumulating a fortune and then it often goes to encourage profligacy, waste, and appalling dissipation. The value of the foundation is that it makes it possible for a rich person to put his money to use for some purpose other than for himself or his family.

Albert Lasker was an advertising man and industrialist who served his country ably in World War I. He amassed a fortune and desired to leave it for useful purposes. Mary Lasker, his widow is a person of unusual perspicacity and social consciousness who devotes herself to good works in a very sensible manner.

Of particular value, I think, are the annual awards to medical journalists. This is a new and increasingly popular field of bringing news to the public. More and more medical copy is being published and the public is beginning to realize what is being done for it in this regard.

The two big killers are heart ailments and various cancers and with regard to both nothing can be more damaging than ignorance. Physicians and surgeons do what they can, but too often they are resisted by frightened patients, by those who so fear death that they stand in the way of continuing life.

The advantage of knowledge is that it can, under favorable circumstances, eliminate this element of fear. There are some who must die in our present state of knowledge but there are surprisingly large numbers who can be helped and who can help themselves. The cured numbers, for instance, are on the constant rise.

I have had a very thorough experience with both these killers and I must say that somehow I was never terrified by them. The word, cancer, neither frightened nor distressed me and when I was permitted to return home, I knew that I should be examined twice a year for about five years. These examinations are now as routine as going to a dentist for a cleaning.

I have to see my heart man, Dr. O. Alan Rose, on stated occasions, and a delightful technician shows up every other Tuesday morning to stick a needle into my left arm to discover by blood chemistry whether I am sinning. (I use doctors' names purposely to break down a stupid tradition of anonymity.)

Perhaps this will go on for the rest of my life. It is a routine that interferes with nothing, that is gentle and at times even jolly, and there it is.

The value of the Albert and Mary Lasker Foundation awards to medical journalism is that it is out in the open.

Alcoholics Anonymous discovered that talking about our illnesses and weaknesses is a form of therapy. And presumably that is, to a degree, true about so many of our illnesses. Perhaps that is why elderly ladies enjoy sitting on hotel verandahs talking about their operations. It helps them get over their troubles.

I find when I use the word, cancer, a look comes into the listener's eye. It is as though I were a disembodied spirit, some ghostly creature returned from Sheol. But when I say that the best way to get over one's aches and pains is to have a cancer clipped out, the listener regards my levity as unseemly.

The other day, I heard Arthur Godfrey talk about his cancer and I thought that he took it altogether too seriously. One need only thank God and the doctors and the needle-stickers that one is still alive and kicking and to leave it at that.

The Albert and Mary Lasker Foundation is to be congratulated for promoting medical journalism. Ignorance is not bliss; it can be a frightful pain in all the wrong places. The more we know, the less we fear — unless we enjoy fear, which some do. Who shall deprive such a one of his pleasures?

Mary Lasker looks like a fearless person who has discovered all the joys of giving and who gives generously but with unusual wisdom.

Inherited accumulations of wealth, hoarded or wasted, seem out of place in our kind of world. The distribution of such accumulations objectively given in the manner of the Lasker Foundation, can only result from mutual understanding of a husband and wife who recognize their social responsibility.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

TWO HUNTERS met at the bank of a swirling stream in darkest Africa. Suddenly one started running, and yelling, "Hip! hip!" "Hooray!" amended the other, anxious to get into the spirit of the thing. "No, no," corrected the first. "Hip, hip, hippopotamus."

In her book of memoirs, "Here Lies the Heart," socialite Mercedes de Acosta tells about the time Isadora Duncan led the great Russian ballet star Nijinski, in a mad waltz at a Paris ball. She came back to her party exuberant. "What a shame he wasn't my pupil when he was two," she sighed. "Then I could have taught him to really dance!"

Miss de Acosta once wrote a letter to her friend, Poet Amy Lowell, and realized after she had mailed it that she had misspelled a key word. So she sent a wire to Miss Lowell reading, "Please excuse me for misspelling a word in my letter." Next day Miss Lowell wired back, "Which one?"

Smallpox Vaccination Care

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.

Vaccination against smallpox is required of children in most communities before they enter school.

Many doctors recommend that this vaccination be given when a child is about six months old and certainly by the time he is one year.

Since it takes some time for immunity to develop after the vaccination is given, I strongly suggest that you do not wait to long to provide your own infants with this essential protection.

Smallpox vaccinations must be given again later in life. Ask your doctor when he thinks it is advisable.

And here are a few good rules to follow when your child is vaccinated.

The vaccination will require no special care until there is evidence that it is effective. We call this a "take."

Generally, a "take" will appear on the fourth or fifth day after the vaccination is administered. Evidence that the vaccination has taken is the appearance of a small blister. When this blister appears, apply a three-by-three-inch sterile gauze dressing to the site and change it each day. The dressing should comprise about four or five layers of gauze.

Fasten it in place with two quarter-inch strips of adhesive tape, one at each end of the bandage. The tape strips should not extend more than half-way around the arm.

Here's a tip I think you might find helpful:

Instead of applying the tape over the dressing, fasten a short strip of cloth to each end of the tape near the dressing. In this way, you can tie the cloth strips to hold the dressing in place, thus saving the youngster from the sometimes painful experience of having the tape ripped from his arm each time you change the bandage.

Saturate each new dressing by pouring half a teaspoonful of pure alcohol on the gauze.

Be sure you don't get the vaccination wet until the scab falls off. Usually, this will occur in about five or six weeks.

Since scratching may lead to increased scarring, it is suggested that you keep long sleeves on the child until the scab disappears.

If the child should develop a fever as sometimes happens, it is best to consult your doctor.

Question and Answer
R. C. C.: Can there be any ill effects from using too much saccharin and mayonnaise?

Answer: Saccharin, in the usual amounts consumed in an average diet, is generally thought of as harmless.

Mayonnaise is rich in fat and cholesterol and should be used in moderation and not at all if you are overweight.

U.S. Jet Pilots In Germany Are Busy Now

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — American Jet fighters have increased their vigilance along the frontiers of Czechoslovakia and Communist East Germany recently, U.S. pilots report.

"We used to go sometimes three days without a scramble but since about two months ago we have had an average of 10 a day," one pilot told a reporter today.

A scramble is an actual alert by radar trackers sending jet interceptors aloft to check on unidentified aircraft or on Western planes straying too close to Communist territory.

U.S. Air Force headquarters at Wiesbaden would not confirm these reports. A spokesman said he had not knowledge of increased activity.

One pilot, however, told a reporter: "I know there has been an increase, but I don't know why. Perhaps it is because of international tension."

Several pilots said U.S. and West German radar equipment is so effective it can detect high-flying planes hundreds of miles inside Communist territory.

"Although we never have had occasion to chase a Communist plane while on our scrambles," one pilot said, "the radar operators sometimes ask us how many we are up there. When we answer 'Just the two of us,' the operators sometimes say 'Nope, there are three. You have company.'"

"Naturally, it is a Communist jet keeping an eye on us but still far enough away behind the Iron Curtain so that we can't see him."

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department lied about the American spy-plane which Premier Nikita Khrushchev says was shot down over the Soviet Union. But maybe he was lying when he said it was shot down at all.

He said the plane was hit by a Soviet rocket at 63,000 feet but that the American pilot, Francis G. Powers, parachuted to safety. That brings up question No. 1:

How could the pilot have escaped at all if a rocket hit his plane?

Khrushchev said the plane carried various equipment for aerial spying, such as cameras, instruments for spotting radar networks, and other special engineering devices.

He said the Soviets now have the plane's equipment. He said they have something else, too: The film used by Powers to photograph Soviet territory, such as airfields. The Soviets, Khrushchev said, developed this film.

And he produced photographs to prove it. He also produced photographs of what he said was the wreckage of the spy-plane on the ground. But that plane—or, rather, the wreckage—had been almost destroyed by fire.

So that produces question No. 2: If that was truly the spy-plane, how could the Soviets have pulled out of that burning wreckage not only the films but the special equipment Khrushchev said the plane had?

Canton Flash Flood Warning Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Weather Bureau specialists are studying ways of setting up a flash flood warning system covering an area within a 60-mile radius of Canton, Ohio.

This was disclosed today by Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio). Bow recently questioned the adequacy of radar and river forecasting services in northeast Ohio.

Bow said that the proposed Canton area program would be similar to one originated by the Weather Bureau at Des Moines, Iowa.

This depends upon cooperation between weather bureau facilities and individual communities in the flash flood areas.

By James Marlow

In this country the American designer of the plane, C. L. Johnson, spent many hours looking at copies of the photograph which Khrushchev said showed the spy-plane wreckage.

Then Johnson said: He was convinced it was not the spy-plane at all but some other plane. To back up his statement he went into detail about parts of the plane still visible after the fire and said they were not parts of the plane he designed.

And Tuesday in Congress Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo) said the spy-plane had not been shot down but was forced down by "some unforeseen and unavoidable mechanical or physiological defect."

Just how Cannon knew what he was talking about isn't clear, either. But he is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee which approves money for such activities as spying.

One thing stands out here: By Khrushchev's own admission the plane had penetrated more than 1,200 miles into Soviet territory before it went down. That doesn't make Soviet defenses look good.

Khrushchev boasts of Soviet might. It would have been embarrassing for him to admit an American plane got 1,200 miles into the Soviet Union and was discovered only after it came down by itself because of a mechanical defect.

Cannon went further in a way which makes the quality of Soviet defense against aerial penetration look pretty sad from a military view.

He said spy flights over the Soviet Union had been made since 1946 and some had gone as much as 1,300 miles inside the Soviet Union.

In the past 10 years a number of U. S. planes have been shot down by Soviet aircraft. Most of the incidents, however, happened in the Far East, on the fringes of Japan, Siberia, and Korea.

The State Department lied about the spy-plane when it said—before it knew now much information Khrushchev had—that there never was any "attempt to deliberately violate Soviet air space."

When Khrushchev produced the goods—mainly his revelation the pilot had been captured and was alive—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter admitted this country had been sending spy planes over the Soviet Union for years.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Provide a Fourth at Dinner

DEAR ABBY: My husband's best friend is in love with me. He has never touched me or said anything suggestive to me, but I know it as sure as I am living. It is so apparent that even my mother noticed it. We are all in our thirties. This friend has never married.

I love my husband and children very much, Abby, and I don't want anything to happen to my marriage. This man works with my husband, and my husband brings him home for dinner very often. The children love him, and he adores them. Is it wrong to be too kind to people, Abby? How do I discourage him? When he looks at me I see desire in his eyes. I am not mistaken. A woman knows those things. Help me, please. I am a bundle of nerves over this. I've never talked to my husband about it. He doesn't suspect a thing.

BUNDLE OF NERVES
DEAR BUNDLE: Tell your husband that when he invites his friend to the house for dinner, he should ask him to bring a lady friend of his own. Or else you invite one.

DEAR ABBY: When I was growing up my parents thought it was impolite for children to call adults by their first names. As a result I was told that this was "Aunt Joan and Uncle Bill" and "Aunt Polly and Uncle Al". Years later I learned that these people were not my real aunts and uncles at all—just good friends of my parents. It was terribly confusing.

I am raising children now, and I too feel that they shouldn't call adults by their first names, but I don't want to start that "Aunt Joan and Uncle Bill" business. Have you or your readers any suggestions? "Mr. and Mrs." is too formal.

YOUNG MOTHER
DEAR YOUNG MOTHER: I agree that children shouldn't call adults by their first names. But "Mr. and Mrs." denotes respect—not formality.

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter-in-law who has two Mexican Chihuahua dogs and every time she comes to my house she brings them. I don't mind dogs as a rule, but these two look like a pair of skinned rats and I detest them. She lets them run all over the living room and my sofa covering is already full of snags from their sharp claws. I have a six-year-old boy, and when my daughter-in-law comes with her dogs I have to ask him to stay in his bedroom because the dogs are jealous of him and they keep barking until he leaves. How should I tell her I like to have her visit me, but to please leave the dogs home?

MOTHER-IN-LAW
DEAR MOTHER-IN-LAW: Tell her that it is unfair to your son to be confined to his bedroom because she and her dogs are visiting. Say it in a friendly way—but say it.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Perry Twp Ingenuity Group of the Home Demonstration Club met at the school for their May meeting, during the morning. Mrs. J. E. Funk (councilor) presided over the business meeting.

A report of the recent meeting on mosaic tile work and furniture refinishing was given and announcement of the "Short Course" at the Ohio State University in Columbus for June 20 and 21st.

Further plans of our exhibits for the Fair with Mrs. Jake Justice, our chairman were discussed, with displays including the chairs and stools being refinished and canned and woven bottoms. Since this is the last meeting until the Sept. meeting, which is scheduled for "Picture selection and Use". Ideas for the same will be collected during the summer.

A noon sack exchange lunch proved interesting, and Mrs. Hobble served coffee from a table covered with an orange cloth, with a centerpiece, a large white bowl, flower garden of cactus, including a miniature lake and animals arranged in the foliage.

The afternoon was a busy time of canning one chair and working on weaving three small rocker bottoms. Among those present were Mesdames J. E. Funk, Warren Hobble, Jake Justice, Emma Hamilton, Paul Fels and daughter Teresa and son Greg, Calvin George Donohoe, Sherman Hawk and daughter Elizabeth and Johnny Carner, all of Atlanta and Mrs. Charles W. Mills and Mrs. Earl Armentrout of Route 1, New Holland.

Mrs. Nellie Funk of Washington C. H., and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Funk of Dayton visited Sunday in Atlanta with friends.

Recent weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Weidinger and daughter Martha were Mrs. Joan Cox and son Chuck of Washington C. H., and Miss Betty Weidinger of Xenia and John Weidinger and Harold Emohistle of Hamilton.

The Mother's Day Program was enjoyed on Sunday morning at the Atlanta ME Church. The program included "Welcome" Kim and Jill Long; "Playtime" by Leslie and Lynn Williams; Recitation, "Mother's Smile", Linda Kempton; vocal duet, "Whispering Hope", Rita Oyer and Portia Donohoe; with Patty Kempton at the piano; "When Mother's Away", Steve and Sharon Hammon; "She Couldn't depend on Me", Linda Hawk; vocal solo, "The Best Bouquet for the Day", Dona Lee Kempton.

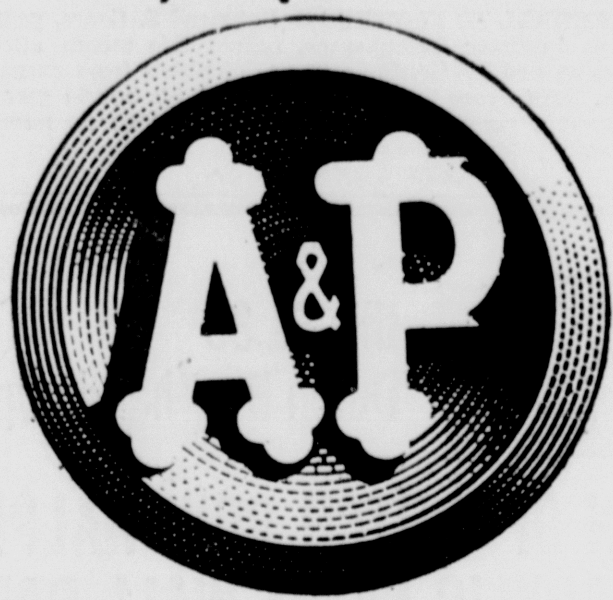

Mother and to Mrs. Robert Garrison as the youngest mother present. Small plants were presented to all mothers present.

During the Special Worship Service Sunday, at the Atlanta Methodist Evangelical Church, those uniting with the church were Mrs. Errel Speakman, and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Funk and daughter, Linda, Gary Wyatt, Judy Bush and Johnny McFarland.

Carroll Greenhouse Perfect For Hobby Gardener's Use

If you are a jealous-hearted gardener stay away from Mrs. Ray Carroll's hobby-sized lean-to greenhouse built on the east side of the contemporary Carroll home on Circle Drive.

It's a doll. And any person with a yen for indoor gardening will come away from the Carroll greenhouse with a good-sized fire of envy a-smouldering away in her heart.

Mrs. Carroll's greenhouse is just the right size. It's 8 by 16 feet with three benches for potting, growing and exhibiting. It's a Lord and Burnham greenhouse, the next to the smallest the company makes.

Dr. and Mrs. Carroll and their three sons, Tom, Steve and Trent moved into their new home last June and the greenhouse was there waiting for Mrs. Carroll when they arrived.

MRS. CARROLL says that she has thoroughly enjoyed her get-acquainted year with her new greenhouse. There are some problems confronting her like the problem of shading from the summer sun. These she has still to solve.

Nevertheless she has accomplished a lot during her first year at greenhousing. She has acquired an amazing collection of plants.

There are her African violets, of course, which she thinks have already had an overdose of sun. But the violets are blooming magnificently. She has one pot of pink violets, a multiple crown plant, that is most outstanding.

She has a calla lily in bloom. Her Gloriosa lily (climbing lily) has just finished blooming. Her tuberous begonia bulbs are beginning to sprout.

She has Sultana (grown from seed) peperomia, shrimp plant, Dieffenbachia and umbrella palm. There is one pot of chives. The Crown of Thorns is blooming. Several pots of amaryllis are leafing out. A flowering maple is sporting a big red blossom. A new gardenia is adjusting to the Carroll greenhouse.

Mrs. Carroll has numerous plants which she does not know by name. She has several holly ferns which she hopes will grow and fill the space under the benches. She saw them doing this at Hollandia Gardens greenhouse.

MRS. CARROLL has several azaleas—now finished with their blooming. She has also experimented a little with annuals from seeds. She has sweetpeas ready for transplanting and pansies which are thriving-size plants. She starts her annuals in sphagnum moss.

Mrs. Schubert Measmer brought a southern hibiscus in for winter care in the greenhouse. It grew and bloomed.

We asked Mrs. Carroll if many people wanted her to winter things over for them. She laughed and said they'd be taking a big risk.

The Carroll greenhouse has a brick floor and the greenhouse is heated by a hot water furnace that also heats other parts of the Carroll home.

The greenhouse is strictly her province. The doctor doesn't monkey around in the greenhouse. The boys are mildly interested.

One function of the greenhouse serves is to provide plants for the indoor planter at the entrance of the Carroll home. Another use will be to provide plants for the court which one enters before going into the house. Mrs. Carroll says the tuberous begonias will go here.

So, if you're jealous-hearted stay away from this delightful hobby-sized greenhouse. Already one gardener we know has admitted, "I'm not the envious type but how I'd love a greenhouse like Mrs. Carroll's."

Expert States Arrangers Are Top Quality

Helen Van Pelt Wilson, who has had the task of assembling the popular "Flower Arrangement Calendar" published by M. Barrows and Co. each year, knows the trends in flower arrangement as well as anybody in the craft.

So it was with interest that we came across her paragraph on "Trends 1960".

This well-known garden writer says that there is increased interest in Japanese work. Ikebana International is growing at an incredible rate. This is a society dedicated to teaching the Japanese Art of Flower Arranging to its membership.

Helen Van Pelt Wilson observes that arrangers are sending in more pictures where lots of flowers are used, evidently grown in the arrangers' own gardens. In some cases flowers have been cured or dried with real success by the arranger.

SHE SAYS that interpretative arranging is now out of its infancy with themes subtly suggested. She notes that accessories are integrated within the arrangement more frequently now. She believes that arrangers are appreciating sculpture now — and what's more using it with distinction.

Mrs. Wilson feels that the religious studies show more sensitivity. She was delighted to see that a great deal of quality work was being done by arrangers, more now than ever before.

Nurserymen Able To Solve Problems

Home owners are urged to consult with qualified nurserymen if they wish to have sound success with plants.

"Anyone can go out and select a plant," says the American Association of Nurserymen, "but in many cases they don't know the variety, or what it will do, how it will grow best, how to water it, or any of the important things that insure success in growing plants on the home property."

Most good nurserymen have spent the major part of their lives in raising trees and shrubs for home plantings.

They know what species are better for certain soils, as well as where to locate the plants on the home property.

The majority of successful nurserymen are college or university graduates, specializing in ornamental horticulture or landscape architecture. With their good advice, it is far easier for the home owner to grow plants that will give full returns in beauty, shade, flowers or fruits, as the need may be.

"TELL THE nurseryman what you want the plants for," urges the association. "Tell him what you are trying to achieve in planting."

"Do you need more privacy? Some plants are especially recommended as plant screens. Do you wish shade at some particular spot, or to shut off sun glare from certain windows or a porch or terrace? Where you locate the tree is important, while there are special plants for this particular purpose."

"Family garden living is in great vogue today from coast-to-coast. Your nurseryman can tell you what plants to purchase for garden living and how and where to plant them for best results."

Suburbia has many glaring examples of what not to do in planting your property, says the association, such things as scrubby foundation plantings that obscure windows, trees in the middle of the lawn, various unsuitable hedge plants, and other mistakes that never would have been made if a good nurseryman had been consulted in the first place.

Local Lilacs In Spotlight

Famous Plants Are Very Hardy

Local lilacs are giving a magnificent performance this year. Not a home owner, certainly not a gardener lives, who is not saying to himself, "Lilacs I must have!"

And so you must. Lilacs are perfectly hardy and in many cases long lived. Perhaps the handsomest lilacs, locally, are to be found in the old cemetery near the Fifth Street school building. These lilacs are from 12 to 15 feet high and covered with blossom this year.

Strangely enough the botanical name of Syringa is commonly attributed to another shrub, the mock orange which is actually the Philadelphus.

The common lilac or Syringa vulgaris is a vigorous shrub, perfectly winter hardy and will grow to 15 feet or more.

THE LILAC is a native of the mountainous regions of Rumania, Bulgaria and Greece and has been known in Europe since 1150. In western Europe it grows wild and is a common hedgerow.

Order lilacs guaranteed to be on their own roots or grafted on privet understock. The grafted plants will bloom sooner but will not live as long as lilacs on their own roots. Plant lilacs five feet apart.

One authority suggests planting the grafts four inches under the ground. In a matter of two or three years the lilac will be growing on its own roots. If the privet suckers, it is easily recognized and the suckers must be clipped.

If a hybrid lilac is grafted to common lilac roots the suckers cannot be recognized and soon the root stock is taking over and crowding out the fancy lilac.

Lilacs are best planted in fall and very early spring. Late spring planting results in stunted leaf growth the first year. Lilacs are not exacting as to soil and prefer a slightly alkaline soil. They will thrive however in a neutral soil or one that has a pH of 8.

Lilacs like moisture and sunshine. When established they will withstand wind, deep snows, hard winters and years to neglect.

SORRY TO SAY lilacs are subject to borer and oyster shell scale! If borer is one of the troubles dusting with DDT is helpful. And if there is an infestation of borer allow the suckers to grow. They will in time become new bushes.

For scale, spray with light miscible oil sold for the purpose. Spray again after the leaves have dropped with an oil emulsion mixed to proportion for a dormant spray.

Don't worry about mildew, it's unlovely but not dangerous.

A dozen good lilacs are: Single white, Vestale; double white, Ellen Wilcott; single blue, President Lincoln; double blue, President Grey and Olivier de Serres; single lilac pink, Lucie Baltet; double lilac pink, Belle de Nancy, Mme. Antoine and Buchner; single purple, Congo, double purple, Violetta and dark purple, single, Ludwig Spaeth.

Rose Fanciers To Meet in June

The American Rose Society estimates that 500 rose fanciers will attend its 61st annual meeting to be held in Denver, Colo. June 16 and 18.

National Headquarters for the American Rose Society is in Columbus at 4048 Roselea Place. This is at the entrance to the Columbus Park of Roses.

Medical Mirror

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

FEVER CONVULSIONS

- Cleansing Dentures
- Constipation

Q. My 2-year-old daughter has had several fever convulsions. The doctor has advised me not to have her vaccinated against whooping cough and the other diseases. Is this wise?

A. The general rule is not to immunize a child who is not well. A history of convulsions would suggest that the child is not completely fit, and in such cases, protective shots are not usually given unless there is some risk of infection. Your physician is the only one in a position to decide when and if to withhold immunization.

Q. Would a strong acid solution be suitable for removing tartar from false teeth?

A. No. The use of strong chemical solutions and abrasive powders on dentures roughens the denture and encourages deposition of more tartar. If the denture is heavily encrusted with material it would be best to take it to your dentist for cleansing and polishing. Afterwards, gentle brushing with soap and water should keep it free of deposits.

Garden Gossip

The wisteria tree at the home of the late John Mader, 428 E. Main St., managed to survive the winter of '58 and '59. It is blooming to perfection now. Many wisterias were killed entirely. A few came up from the roots but the Mader tree was apparently unharmed.

There is something to be said for a long drawn-out winter with no pleasant warm spells. It's good for blooming shrubs. This is a fine spring for Forsythia. And the lilacs are superb.

Edwin Walters' garden boasts some fine specimens of lilacs. We saw them from the street side of the fence but his lilacs are certainly 15 feet high.

The John Dunlaps of Williamsport have a particularly fine specimen of Persian lilac in the corner of their yard. At least we think it's a Persian. Usually Persian's do not grow over 10 feet or so. This one is enormous.

Mrs. Charles Gildersleeve, 637 S. Court St., moved to town last year from our neighborhood. Shortly after she moved the old farm house burned down. But the old lilac bush in the corner didn't get singed. It has never been lovelier than it is this year.

WHITE LILACS are at their best now too. We've always thought it curious that of all the flowers the Noggles have in their garden, including the city's loveliest roses, Mrs. Noggle says that white lilacs are her favorite flower.

Gayle Stump sent some rhubarb to us the other day. Rhubarb is one of those lifetime investments. The Stumps have had their rhubarb for years and supply the whole neighborhood.

We used to exchange asparagus for rhubarb with the Stumps until Mrs. Stump told us that cultivated asparagus did not compare with the wild asparagus found along the fence posts up and down the road. Sure enough it was true. The wild asparagus had much the finer flavor.

It's not a good mushroom year. But some folks would find mushrooms in the Sahara Desert. Pete and Bess Ebert have had good luck this spring.

Mrs. James Jackson of near Jackson was taking the reading examination for the flower show school in Dayton Thursday along with several other persons, myself included. She said the New York Flower Show was never better than this year.

We asked her about the newer trends. She said she thought it was the use of exotic foliage. She had noticed it last year and this year it was even more pronounced.

Mrs. Buford Pendland of near Portsmouth, also taking the exam, said that her own garden was solely for the purpose of growing flowers for arranging. That meant, she said, a little bit of everything that she had ever heard of.

Since only 14 people took the reading examination they were invited to Mrs. Homer Jacobs' home instead of the church where the flower show course had been given. Mrs. Jacobs' garden was groomed to perfection. All the gardens on the street entered into each other. No fences. And every body else along the line had beautifully groomed gardens.

MRS. REGINALD Blue of near Frankfort, a member of Pickaway Garden Club, took a red ribbon at the daffodil show in Dayton recently. She was pleased. But she's out for blue ribbons in order to qualify as a nationally accredited flower show judge. She was planning on entering the second daffodil show there. She keeps her flowers in the dehydrator quite successfully.

Mrs. Blue's patio garden had a crown imperial blooming. Her grandson, Chuckie, called it "The Jungle Flower". It does indeed look exotic. Mrs. Blue says it was a great favorite in Victorian gardens.

Mrs. Turney Pontius, Route 4, has had a lily pool in her garden for many years. It's an annual chore to clean out the lily pool. She was busy superintending its cleaning this week.

On the way to Dayton yards with dandelions looked so pretty and cheerful. It will be a different matter a few weeks from now when dandelions turn gray and start scattering seed.

And fields where wild mustard has taken over were also very striking. There's nothing prettier than a green field with all that yellow bloom. Prettier or a worse enemy to the farmer!

Carroll Greenhouse Perfect For Hobby Gardener's Use

If you are a jealous-hearted gardener stay away from Mrs. Ray Carroll's hobby-sized lean-to greenhouse built on the east side of the contemporary Carroll home on Circle Drive.

It's a doll. And any person with a yen for indoor gardening will come away from the Carroll greenhouse with a good-sized fire of envy a-smouldering away in her heart.

Mrs. Carroll's greenhouse is just the right size. It's 8 by 16 feet with three benches for potting, growing and exhibiting. It's a Lord and Burnham greenhouse, the next to the smallest the company makes.

Dr. and Mrs. Carroll and their three sons, Tom, Steve and Trent moved into their new home last June and the greenhouse was there waiting for Mrs. Carroll when they arrived.

MRS. CARROLL says that she has thoroughly enjoyed her get-acquainted year with her new greenhouse. There are some problems confronting her like the problem of shading from the summer sun. These she has still to solve.

Nevertheless she has accomplished a lot during her first year at greenhousing. She has acquired an amazing collection of plants.

There are her African violets, of course, which she thinks have already had an overdose of sun. But the violets are blooming magnificently. She has one pot of pink violets, a multiple crown plant, that is most outstanding.

She has a calla lily in bloom. Her Gloriosa lily (climbing lily) has just finished blooming. Her tuberous begonia bulbs are beginning to sprout.

She has Sultana (grown from seed) peperomia, shrimp plant, Dieffenbachia and umbrella palm. There is one pot of chives. The Crown of Thorns is blooming. Several pots of amaryllis are leafing out. A flowering maple is sporting a big red blossom. A new gardenia is adjusting to the Carroll greenhouse.

Mrs. Carroll has numerous plants which she does not know by name. She has several holly ferns which she hopes will grow and fill the space under the benches. She saw them doing this at Hollandia Gardens greenhouse.

MRS. CARROLL has several azaleas—now finished with their blooming. She has also experimented a little with annuals from seeds. She has sweetpeas ready for transplanting and pansies which are turning-size plants. She starts her annuals in sphagnum moss.

Mrs. Schubert Messamer brought a southern hibiscus in for winter care in the greenhouse. It grew and bloomed.

We asked Mrs. Carroll if many people wanted her to winter things over for them. She laughed and said they'd be taking a big risk.

The Carroll greenhouse has a brick floor and the greenhouse is heated by a hot water furnace that also heats other parts of the Carroll home.

The greenhouse is strictly her province. The doctor doesn't monkey around in the greenhouse. The boys are mildly interested.

One function the greenhouse serves is to provide plants for the indoor planter at the entrance of the Carroll home. Another use will be to provide plants for the court which one enters before going into the house. Mrs. Carroll says the tuberous begonias will go here.

So, if you're jealous-hearted stay away from this delightful hobby-sized greenhouse. Already one gardener we know has admitted, "I'm not the envious type but how I'd love a greenhouse like Mrs. Carroll's."

Expert States Arrangers Are Top Quality

Helen Van Pelt Wilson, who has had the task of assembling the popular "Flower Arrangement Calendar" published by M. Barrows and Co. each year, knows the trends in flower arrangement as well as anybody in the craft.

So it was with interest that we came across her paragraph on "Trends 1960".

This well-known garden writer says that there is increased interest in Japanese work. Ikebana International is growing at an incredible rate. This is a society dedicated to teaching the Japanese Art of Flower Arranging to its membership.

Helen Van Pelt Wilson observes that arrangers are sending in more pictures where lots of flowers are used, evidently grown in the arrangers' own gardens. In some cases flowers have been cured or dried with real success by the arranger.

SHE SAYS that interpretative arranging is now out of its infancy with themes subtly suggested. She notes that accessories are integrated within the arrangement more frequently now. She believes that arrangers are appreciating sculpture now — and what's more using it with distinction.

Mrs. Wilson feels that the religious studies show more sensitivity. She was delighted to see that a great deal of quality work was being done by arrangers, more now than ever before.

Nurserymen Able To Solve Problems

Home owners are urged to consult with qualified nurserymen if they wish to have sound success with plants.

"Anyone can go out and select a plant," says the American Association of Nurserymen, "but in many cases they don't know the variety, or what it will do, how it will grow best, how to water it, or any of the important things that insure success in growing plants on the home property."

Most good nurserymen have spent the major part of their lives in raising trees and shrubs for home plantings.

They know what species are better for certain soils, as well as where to locate the plants on the home property.

The majority of successful nurserymen are college or university graduates, specializing in ornamental horticulture or landscape architecture. With their good advice, it is far easier for the home owner to grow plants that will give full returns in beauty, shade, flowers or fruits, as the need may be.

"TELL THE nurseryman what you want the plants for," urges the association. "Tell him what you are trying to achieve in planting."

"Do you need more privacy? Some plants are especially recommended as plant screens. Do you wish shade at some particular spot, or to shut off sun glare from certain windows or a porch or terrace? Where you locate the tree is important, while there are special plants for this particular purpose."

"Family garden living is in great vogue today from coast-to-coast. Your nurseryman can tell you what plants to purchase for garden living and how and where to plant them for best results."

Suburbia has many glaring examples of what not to do in planting your property, says the association, such things as scrubby foundation plantings that obscure windows, trees in the middle of the lawn, various unsuitable hedge plants, and other mistakes that never would have been made if a good nurseryman had been consulted in the first place.

Local Lilacs In Spotlight

Famous Plants Are Very Hardy

Local lilacs are giving a magnificent performance this year. Not a home owner, certainly not a gardener lives, who is not saying to himself, "Lilacs I must have!"

And so you must. Lilacs are perfectly hardy and in many cases long lived. Perhaps the handsomest lilacs, locally, are to be found in the old cemetery near the High Street school building. These lilacs are from 12 to 15 feet high and covered with blossom this year.

Strangely enough the botanical name of Syringa is commonly attributed to another shrub, the mock orange which is actually the Philadelphus.

The common lilac or Syringa vulgaris is a vigorous shrub, perfectly winter hardy and will grow to 15 feet or more.

THE LILAC is a native of the mountainous regions of Rumania, Bulgaria and Greece and has been known in Europe since 1150. In western Europe it grows wild and is a common hedgerow.

Order lilacs guaranteed to be on their own roots or grafted on privet understock. The grafted plants will bloom sooner but will not live as long as lilacs on their own roots. Plant lilacs five feet apart.

One authority suggests planting the grafts four inches under the ground. In a matter of two or three years the lilac will be growing on its own roots. If the privet suckers, it is easily recognized and the suckers must be clipped.

If a hybrid lilac is grafted to common lilac roots the suckers cannot be recognized and soon the root stock is taking over and crowding out the fancy lilac.

Lilacs are best planted in fall and very early spring. Late spring planting results in stunted leaf growth the first year. Lilacs are not exacting as to soil and prefer a slightly alkaline soil. They will thrive however in a neutral soil or one that has a ph. of 8.

Lilacs like moisture and sunshine. When established they will withstand, wind, deep snows, hard winters and years to neglect.

SORRY TO SAY lilacs are subject to borer and oyster shell scale! If borer is one of the troubles dusting with DDT is helpful. And if there is an infestation of borer allow the suckers to grow. They will in time become new bushes.

For scale, spray with light miscible oil sold for the purpose. Spray again after the leaves have dropped with an oil emulsion mixed to proportion for a dormant spray.

Don't worry about mildew, it's unlovely but not dangerous.

A dozen good lilacs are: Single white, Vestale; double white, Ellen Wilcott; single blue, President Lincoln; double blue, President Grey and Olivier de Serres; single lilac pink, Lucie Baltet; double lilac pink, Belle de Nancy, Mme. Antoine and Buchner; single purple, Congo, double purple, Violetta and dark purple, single, Ludwig Spaeth.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

FEVER CONVULSIONS

- Cleansing Dentures
- Constipation

Q. My 2-year-old daughter has had several fever convulsions. The doctor has advised me not to have her vaccinated against whooping cough and the other diseases. Is this wise?

A. The general rule is not to immunize a child who is not well. A history of convulsions would suggest that the child is not completely fit, and in such cases, protective shots are not usually given unless there is some risk of infection. Your physician is the only one in a position to decide when and if to withhold immunization.

Q. Would a strong acid solution be suitable for removing tartar from false teeth?

A. No. The use of strong chemical solutions and abrasive powders on dentures roughens the denture and encourages deposition of more tartar. If the denture is heavily encrusted with material it would be best to take it to your dentist for cleansing and polishing. Afterwards, gentle brushing with soap and water should keep it free of deposits.

Garden Gossip

The wisteria tree at the home of the late John Mader, 428 E. Main St., managed to survive the winter of '58 and '59. It is blooming to perfection now. Many wisterias were killed entirely. A few came up from the roots but the Mader tree was apparently unharmed.

There is something to be said for a long drawn-out winter with no pleasant warm spells. It's good for blooming shrubs. This is a fine spring for Forsythia. And the lilacs are superb.

Edwin Walters' garden boasts some fine specimens of lilacs. We saw them from the street side of the fence but his lilacs are certainly 15 feet high.

The John Dunlaps of Williamsport have a particularly fine specimen of Persian lilac in the corner of their yard. At least we think it's a Persian. Usually Persians do not grow over 10 feet or so. This one is enormous.

Mrs. Charles Gildersleeve, 637 S. Court St., moved to town last year from our neighborhood. Shortly after she moved the old farm house burned down. But the old lilac bush in the corner didn't get singed. It has never been lovelier than it is this year.

WHITE LILACS are at their best now too. We've always thought it curious that of all the flowers the Noggies have in their garden, including the city's loveliest roses, Mrs. Noggle says that white lilacs are her favorite flower.

Gayle Stump sent some rhubarb to us the other day. Rhubarb is one of those lifetime investments. The Stumps have had their rhubarb for years and supply the whole neighborhood.

We used to exchange asparagus for rhubarb with the Stumps until Mrs. Stump told us that cultivated asparagus did not compare with the wild asparagus found along the fence posts up and down the road. Sure enough it was true. The wild asparagus had much the finer flavor.

It's not a good mushroom year. But some folks would find mushrooms in the Sahara desert. Pete and Bess Ebert have had good luck this spring.

Mrs. James Jackson of near Jackson was taking the reading examination for the flower show school in Dayton Thursday along with several other persons, myself included. She said the New York Flower Show was never better than this year.

We asked her about the newer trends. She said she thought it was the use of exotic foliage. She had noticed it last year and this year it was even more pronounced.

Mrs. Buford Pendland of near Portsmouth, also taking the exam, said that her own garden was solely for the purpose of growing flowers for arranging. That meant, she said, a little bit of everything that she had ever heard of.

Since only 14 people took the reading examination they were invited to Mrs. Homer Jacobs' home instead of the church where the flower show course had been given. Mrs. Jacobs' garden was groomed to perfection. All the gardens on the street entered into each other. No fences. And every body else along the line had beautifully groomed gardens.

MRS. REGINALD Blue of near Frankfurt, a member of Pickaway Garden Club, took a red ribbon at the daffodil show in Dayton recently. She was pleased. But she's out for blue ribbons in order to qualify as a nationally accredited flower show judge. She was planning on entering the second daffodil show there. She keeps her flowers in the dehydrator quite successfully.

Mrs. Blue's patio garden had a crown imperial blooming. Her grandson, Chuckie, called it "The Jungle Flower". It does indeed look exotic. Mrs. Blue says it was a great favorite in Victorian gardens.

Mrs. Turney Pontius, Route 4, has had a lily pool in her garden for many years. It's an annual chore to clean out the lily pool. She was busy superintending its cleaning this week.

On the way to Dayton yards with dandelions looked so pretty and cheerful. It will be a different matter a few weeks from now when dandelions turn gray and start scattering seed.

And fields where wild mustard has taken over were also very striking. There's nothing prettier than a green field with all that yellow bloom. Prettier or a worse enemy to the farmer!

Duet, Pink Parfait Roses Win All-America Laurels

DUET
(Hybrid Tea)

PINK PARFAIT
(Grandiflora)

Winners of the All-America Rose Awards are Duet, a hybrid tea, and Pink Parfait, a grandiflora. The new winners captured their titles only after years of stiff competition with the latest varieties developed by the world's leading hybridizers.

Rosarians watch with keenest interest for the yearly winners, knowing full well that the winners will be super-excellent roses.

Both Duet and Pink Parfait will be available for fall planting.

Duet is the eighth Hybrid Tea to win an award in the last 10 years. Hybrid Teas, the best-known class of roses, feature the classic, perfectly formed flower, usually borne on a single stem. They are great favorites for cutting and household arrangement.

DUET IS A unique, bi-colored rose which blends two warm, rich hues. The inner surface of the petal is a soft salmon-pink, while the outer side is a contrasting rosy crimson. Its flowers of some 30 petals last well, and hold their true colors under wide variations of weather.

Pink Parfait is the third Grandiflora class was introduced in 1955. The Grandiflora combines the outstanding characteristics of the Hybrid Tea and the Floribunda, and experts predict that the class will become an outstanding favorite during the next decade.

Pink Parfait produces flowers which are a delicate blending of pink pastel shades, with the bud stage ranging from dawn pink to apple blossom pink. Buds are produced in heavy quantity, and it is not uncommon for a mature plant to carry 100 or more at the same time. In the open stage, the semi-double flowers range from dawn pink to deep rose.

Development of a rose capable of winning an All-America Award is a long and difficult process, requiring a minimum of at least eight years. If a new variety shows exceptional promise during the experimental stages, it may be entered in the Lily pools are getting rarer and rarer. No doubt it's the annual cleaning that discourages gardeners.

The Pontius pool is beautifully constructed. Right now a planting of Virginia bluebells is blooming near it.

Mrs. Sam Lutz of New Holland is said to be most green-of-thumb and can make just about anything grow. She plants seeds in flower pots, then covers pot and all with waxed paper. Then she says she never has to water the seed.

Jim Mattinson, Kingston, claims that everytime there is a dandelion that dares show its face in his yard he's after it with his digger. If he's not around Mrs. Mattinson takes over.

I EXPECT every mother has had the tender experience of a youngster who carefully gathered a bouquet of dandelions to present to her in his grimy little paw. All too soon the kids learn that dandelions are an obnoxious weed. But there is that time in a youngster's life, when the world is new and beautiful, that a bouquet of dandelions is a mighty handsome gift.

Timmy Justice, Whisler, picked just such a bouquet for his mother last week. When we dropped in for a visit there were the dandelion on the mantel in a container of water.

Incidental to new trends in flower arranging, the artists among us have cooked up yet another dimension. Not satisfied with height, width and depth they have now declared that movement is the fourth dimension.

This, they attain, by means of asymmetrically balanced mobiles.

At the Dayton daffodil show there was a class for mobiles. A student judge said that the mobiles with even balance were eliminated.

Violet Show Draws Crowd

Some 1400 fanciers attended the African Violet Show the first day of the three-day exhibition. The show was held two weeks ago in Lazarus Assembly Center, Columbus.

Mrs. Lee Howard, 1030 Vernon Road, Columbus, won "Queen of Show", "Princess of Show", Hulda Evans' Award, Sweepstakes and Smallest Blooming Plant Award.

Mrs. Edna Bradshaw, also of Columbus, won Junior Sweepstakes, Largest Plant Award, National Award and came in second on the Ohio State Award.

Spectators came away from the show with lists of new violets they just "had to have".

ONE OF THE most interesting new varieties was Racy Red, a true red African Violet. There were several pink and green blends that took the fancy of the violet collector and of course numerous pinks, whites and blues.

Mrs. Loren Fogler of near Laurelville, who is a member of the Columbus African Violet Society, listed the following as new and worthwhile varieties: Chantilly, Fascination, Sparkling Waters, White Puff, Dorothy Gray, Angel Child, Masquerade, Tintette, Cor-sage of Pink, Maminiao, Wedgewood, Loch Lomond and Matchmate.

Miami University Flooded by Applicants

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—A flood of applications for the freshman class has forced Miami University to set up a waiting list for late applicants. Harry Gerlach, director of admissions, said there may be some vacancies later due to cancellations. SINCE THE A.A.R.S. system was founded in 1938, more than 1,200 varieties have been entered in the trials, but only 35 have won awards.

The originator must send plants to 24 testing gardens located in different sections of the country. These are so located as to present every possible type of growing condition a plant might be expected to meet in the United States.

Each variety is rated by an impartial judge according to a uniform scoring system with points given for such characteristics as disease resistance, flowering habit, color, foliage and other important qualities.

All too soon the kids learn that dandelions are an obnoxious weed. But there is that time in a youngster's life, when the world is new and beautiful, that a bouquet of dandelions is a mighty handsome gift.

Timmy Justice, Whisler, picked just such a bouquet for his mother last week. When we dropped in for a visit there were the dandelion on the mantel in a container of water.

Incidental to new trends in flower arranging, the artists among us have cooked up yet another dimension. Not satisfied with height, width and depth they have now declared that movement is the fourth dimension.

This, they attain, by means of asymmetrically balanced mobiles.

At the Dayton daffodil show there was a class for mobiles. A student judge said that the mobiles with even balance were eliminated.

Reds Using Big Conference As Step to World Control

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

In November 1957, Moscow summoned leaders of 64 countries to an important conference.

From it came a declaration which has colored Soviet policy ever since. It is the very essence of world communism's approach to next week's summit meeting in Paris.

Disarmament and the dynamite laden Berlin-German questions will dominate the summit talks of President Eisenhower, Premier Khrushchev, President De Gaulle and Prime Minister Macmillan.

But Communist preparation was concentrated elsewhere, on the real core of the East-West global conflict: the intense struggle over the future of underdeveloped countries in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Issuing instructions to the world movement, Moscow has been unable to hide this.

Here's Champ Junior Cook's Prize Recipe

CINCINNATI (AP)—Here is the recipe that won the National Junior Cook of the Year Contest today for Barbara Speiss, 16, of Toledo, Ohio.

She called it a 'hot 'n' hearty sandwich loaf' and she makes it this way:

1 pound of ground beef; 1-3 cup of grated parmesan cheese; cup of finely chopped onion; 1 six-ounce can of tomato paste; 1 teaspoon of salt; cup of chopped ripe olives; 1/2 teaspoon of oregano; 1/2 teaspoon of ground pepper; 1 loaf French or Vienna style bread, unsliced (or use brown-and-serve French rolls for individual sandwiches); 3 tomatoes cut into 10 slice and 5 slices of sharp cheddar cheese.

Thoroughly combine all ingredients except tomatoes cheddar cheese and bread; cut bread lengthwise in half; divide meat mixture in half; arrange meat mixture of both halves of the bread; broil the loaves 5 inches from heat for 10 to 12 minutes.

Remove from oven and top with tomato and cheddar slices; broil an additional 1 to 2 minutes or until cheese begins to melt. Garnish and serve.

The recipe provides for six servings.

Forests occupy 32 per cent of the 49,371 square miles of Czechoslovakia.

Here's how the instructions have been reading:

The foundation of Soviet policy is "peaceful coexistence."

The summit signals a 'new phase' in world development. The decision to convene the meeting was an enormous victory for world communism.

Authoritative Communist pronouncements in connection with 90th anniversary provide a treasure trove of Soviet aims and intentions. Stripped of double talk, this is the thesis:

1. Since World War II, Capitalism achieved further development because of huge spending for arms. A relaxed atmosphere will bring demands for relief from the tax burden for arms.

2. Whatever happens at the summit, efforts will be made to retain a relaxed mood for a while, in expectation of Western economic dislocations. The capitalist world will fall into quarrels and contradictions and a world crisis will follow.

3. While preparing for this, Communists will trust Moscow's "political wisdom," conduct themselves as "proletarian internationalists" and believe whatever is good for Moscow is good for world communism.

4. Communist leaders are chiefly concerned with "the ceaseless process of liberating more and more peoples" from imperialism. Events in Asia signaled the inevitable collapse of Western capitalism. The battle now shifts to the Middle East, Africa, and, as one Communist leader wrote, "to another continent where the people of Cuba have shown all Latin America an example of how a people can liberate itself from the yoke of American imperialist interests."

5. Communists supported by Soviet economic and military power, will exploit such developments while marking time in Europe.

Moscow warns Communists to make no mistake about "peaceful coexistence." This does not mean an end of political war for Communist world supremacy. It does not even mean cessation of armed conflict. Red pronouncements are laying heavy stress on these words of Lenin:

"Peaceful proposals of Socialist (Communist) states, broad propaganda for the idea of coexistence of two systems, in no way signify renunciation by Communists of their ideological principles as they enter into any sort of arrangement with the bourgeoisie capitalism." talism).

So, it appears that to Moscow the summit meeting is just an incident on the path to world Communist domination.

Thoroughly combine all ingredients except tomatoes cheddar cheese and bread; cut bread lengthwise in half; divide meat mixture in half; arrange meat mixture of both halves of the bread; broil the loaves 5 inches from heat for 10 to 12 minutes.

Remove from oven and top with tomato and cheese slices; broil an additional 1 to 2 minutes or until cheese begins to melt. Garnish and serve.

The recipe provides for six servings.

Forests occupy 32 per cent of the 49,371 square miles of Czechoslovakia.

Here's how the instructions have been reading:

The foundation of Soviet policy is "peaceful coexistence."

The summit signals a 'new phase' in world development. The decision to convene the meeting was an enormous victory for world communism.

Authoritative Communist pronouncements in connection with 50th anniversary provide a treasure trove of Soviet aims and intentions. Stripped of double talk, this is the thesis:

Moscow warns Communists to make no mistake about "peaceful coexistence." This does not mean an end of political war for Communist world supremacy. It does not even mean cessation of armed conflict. Red pronouncements are laying heavy stress on these words of Lenin:

"Peaceful proposals of Socialist (Communist) states, broad propaganda for the idea of coexistence of two systems, in no way signify renunciation by Communists of their ideological principles as they enter into any sort of arrangement with the bourgeoisie capitalism." talism."

So, it appears that to Moscow the summit meeting is just an incident on the path to world Communist domination.

The Circleville High School graduates received water safety instructors' training at Ohio State University last year. They will attend National Aquatic School, Camp Limberlost, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., from June 12 through 22 for additional training.

The girls have several summers experience as volunteer assistants in the local water safety program.

Registration days will be May 20 and 21 from 9:30 a. m. until 4 p. m. at the local Red Cross headquarters, 114 1/2 N. Court St.

Persons may register by mail if they cannot possibly come into the Red Cross office. If registering by mail, the following information is necessary:

Name, address, phone number, age, preferred dates for taking instruction and the class in which the child is to be enrolled. No registration will be taken by telephone.

Plans for adult classes are not definite, but will be announced later.

She Stabs Friend, Then Marries Him

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A 39-year-old woman charged with stabbing her boyfriend Tuesday was free of the charge. She married her victim.

Judge L. A. Grayson last week gave Patricia Lee Copenhaver a choice—face sentencing for aggravated assault or get a marriage license with Cecil E. Barry, 49.

When she went before Grayson Monday it was to be married, not sentenced. Barry, who reported his stab wound wasn't serious, said he had forgiven Patricia.

Detroit Chalks Victory after Losing Tenth

Colavito's Home Run Brings 1-0 Triumph Over Washingtonians

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
After dropping 10 in a row and going scoreless for 21 2-3 innings, the Detroit Tigers finally broke through Tuesday night, winning 1-0 at Washington on Rocky Colavito's two-out home run in the pitching of left-hander Don Mossi.

That ended Detroit's longest non-winning slump since 1952, a skid that plunked the Tigers from top to bottom in the American League standings.

Chicago's White Sox were beaten 9-7 at Boston by two grand slam home runs, but retained a one game lead as Cleveland knocked off second place New York 5-1 in 10 innings. Kansas City walloped Baltimore 10-0 with a nine-run fifth inning and a six-hitter by Dick Hall.

In the National League, San Francisco stayed 1½ games ahead of Pittsburgh with a 4-2 job on Philadelphia. The pirates who had lost four straight, defeated Los Angeles 3-2 as right-hander Vern Law became the first pitcher to win five in the majors this season.

The other game scheduled, Cincinnati at Chicago, was rained out—the Cubs' fifth consecutive postponement.

Colavito, the slugger Detroit got from Cleveland in an effort to avoid such things as a 10-game losing streak, broke up a three-hit shutout by Washington's Tex Clevenger (1-1). It was Rocky's fourth home run, all in victories.

Mossi struck out seven and walked just one for his first victory in three decisions. He gave up singles by Billy Gardner and Reno Bertoia and a triple by Bob Allison while putting away the third three-hitter of his career.

Pinch-hitter Rip Repulski and Vic Wertz slammed the White Sox. Repulski, in his first AL at-bat after Friday's trade with Los Angeles, won it with a tie-breaking shot in the eighth off reliever Don Ferrarese — after borrowing the bat Wertz used for his bases-loaded homer in the first inning.

Wertz' wallop made him the fourth active AL player with 1,000 RBIs.

Cleveland got rolling in the four-run 10th with a hit batter, a sacrifice and Johnny Temple's RBI single. It was the first hit off Ryne Duren (1-1) in 9 1-3 innings of relief stretched over six appearances.

Jim Piersall's three-run homer capped it for the Indians. Rookie Dick Stigman (2-1) won it, leaving five Yankee runners stranded in 2 2-3 innings.

Dodgers Talk Recall of Frank Howard

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The meager-muscled Los Angeles Dodgers apparently are about ready to recall robust Frank Howard.

But they have at least temporarily given up the idea of retiring veteran Carl Furillo to make room for the Ohio strongboy.

The latest rumble was that Howard would be brought up from Spokane — where he is hitting .385 and leading the league in RBIs — as soon as his expectant wife had her baby. The baby arrived Tuesday night. So Howard's arrival here may be only days away.

The Dodgers, who have lost 12 of their last 18 games, said they had talked to Furillo about the possibility of his going on the voluntarily retired list, but he had decided to stay on. Furillo, who hit .290 in 50 games last season, has been troubled by a sore leg.

There was general speculation earlier that rookie catcher Norm Sherry — brother of pitcher Larry — would be among the first to leave if a cut were necessary. But Sherry won a game Saturday with an 11th inning homer, hit another one Tuesday night as the Dodgers lost 3-2 to Pittsburgh. He will be in the lineup again tonight.

With Sherry apparently assured of a job, the guess is that the Dodgers may cut shortstop Bob Lillis to stay within the 25-player limit.

Game with WCH Is Postponed

Circleville's baseball game scheduled here yesterday with Washington C. H. was postponed due to rain.

If the weather takes a break, the Tiger nine is slated to play Friday at Greenfield.

Pitchers Danny Leonhardt and Sam Weller both are expected to be ready for the Tiger mound assignment.

Walters of Darby Awarded John McPherson Trophy

THOMAS WALTERS

Thomas Walters, Darby Twp. High School's pitching ace, was named winner of the first annual John McPherson Trophy as the outstanding player in the 1960 Pickaway County Baseball League and Tournament.

The 17-year-old senior edged out runner-up Richard Wilcox, Ashville High School's No. 1 hurler.

Walters stands 6-1 on the year with only a 12-2 defeat by Ashville in the finals of the County Tournament to mar his record.

Wilcox was the victor of this match that saw the Broncos pound Walters from the box in the fifth inning.

Walters has won 19 games as a high school hurler, losing only three. He started his illustrious career as a sophomore, winning 4 and losing 2.

Little League Tryouts Slated For Tonight

Circleville Little League officials and managers are hopeful that tryouts will get started at 6 p. m. today in Ted Lewis Park. Rain cancelled tryouts last night.

Twelve-year-old youths are scheduled to try out tonight. Tomorrow at 6 p. m. 13, 14 and 15-year-old boys are slated for Babe Ruth League drills.

Friday at 6 p. m. will be rescheduled tryouts for eight, nine and 10-year-old youths. Saturday at 1 p. m. will be tryouts for 11-year-olds and all boys unable to tryout earlier in the week.

All managers are urged to be on hand for the balance of the tryouts. Major League and Babe Ruth League managers will examine potential players while Minor League managers and parents will be asked to assist in setting up the outfield fence.

PLAYERS and parents alike are reminded that all boys, eight through 12 are eligible for Little League and boys, 13 through 15 are eligible for Babe Ruth League play.

The age-limit deadline is August 1. Any youth turning 13 before August 1 must play Babe Ruth ball. Any youth turning 16 before August 1 is ineligible for Babe Ruth ball.

League officials asked all players to bring their birth information and to report to the park shelter house, not the ball field. All youths must be registered before trying out.

If tryouts are accomplished this week, player selections probably will take place Sunday and teams announced early next week so that managers may start practicing with their ball clubs.

Kingston 5th In Ross County Track Meet

Kingston placed fifth in the annual Ross County High School Track Meet held Saturday at Chillicothe High School.

Winner of the meet was Southeastern which dominated the field for the fifth consecutive year. Centralia was runnerup with 45 1-3 points. Southeastern posted a winning margin of 56 1-3 markers.

In third place came Unioto 41; Clarksburg 26; Kingston 23 1-3; Frankfort 17; Paint Valley 6 and Huntington 5.

Kingston's Bill Carmean successfully defended his high jump title with a leap of 5' 2". In previous years he had tied for first place.

THE REDSKINS' Tom Edwards placed second in the 100-yard dash. The century was won by Unioto's Larry Lemley who split the tape at :10.3.

Edwards came back with a third in the 22-yard dash, which was won by Lemley in :24.2. Nosing out Edwards was Unioto's Kern.

Kingston's L a u e r m a n placed third in the discus. Winner of this field event was Unioto's Wilhelm with a toss of 129' 7½". Danny Vollmar tied for fifth in the pole vault, won by Centralia's Ault and Clarksburg's Bill McDonald at 10' 4".

Carmean nearly scored a double win as he placed second in the broad jump. Winner was Paint Valley's Williams with a jump of 18' 4¾". Kingston's 880-yard relay team placed third to Southeastern's winning mark of 3:56.4.

ing performance in baseball, the crew — cut senior was named to the first team All-County football and basketball squads and was a strong contender for the Bob Bowsher basketball trophy and David Smith football award.

Walters is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walters, Darby. He plans to tryout for the Cleveland Indians baseball team immediately after graduation.

He has a scholarship to Otterbein College for basketball and plans to enter there this fall.

WILCOX was awarded the runner-up trophy on the basis of his superb 7-0 record to date. The senior right-hander seems to pitch better when the pressure is on and makes Ashville a strong contender for district honors.

The McPherson Trophy is named in honor of the popular Darby Twp. football, baseball and basketball coach who died unexpectedly last fall prior to a Darby-Stoutsville gridiron encounter.

The trophy will be rotating. The selection committee for the initial year was headed by Robert Seward, county general supervisor. Other members were Russell Gregg, Ashville coach; William B. Glenn Chester, Williamsport Coach.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rain and cold weather kept the Cincinnati Reds idle Tuesday, but team brass were hard at work.

Manager Fred Hutchinson and General Manager Gabe Paul in a closed door conference mulled over which player to cut to reach the maximum of 25 permitted after midnight tonight.

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A football tournament to determine a national champion is a "possibility," says Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rumors of trades again revolve 'round the Cleveland Indians locker room.

There has been no report that General Manager Frank (Trader) Lane has told his Tribesmen to continue sending out their laundry — a remark he makes occasionally when the trading itch subsides. So, anything could happen.

5-Pound Tree-Climbing Bass Snagged in Forked Run Lake

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cliff Miller of Parkersburg, W. Va., was fishing down at Forked Run Lake in Meigs County. He was teasing the bass with artificial lures.

One of his casts draped over a tree limb and snagged. The lure, dangling a few inches above the water, was too big a temptation for a nosy bass—it leaped up and grabbed the bait.

The frantic pulling on both ends of the line pulled it free and Miller landed the bass.

Everett Ridge, wildlife supervisor for the district, vouches for the yarn. He said there were witnesses — and that the dangling fish was photographed.

The payoff: The bass weighed 5 pounds 6 ounces—a pretty good weight for a tree-climbing bass, even in southern Ohio.

Northern pike are appearing for their first time in the Muskingum River, near Duncan Falls. Mark White, fish management supervisor for southeastern Ohio, said 10 of the game fish have been caught there, three on trotlines baited with minnows. The 10 range from 20 to 25 inches long.

White said "these fish probably went over the spillway at Charles counties, or Atwood Reservoir in Tuscarawas and Carroll counties. Stocking headwater lakes always gives the water downstream a shot in the arm."

The supervisor said fishing for crappies and catfish had been particularly good in the Muskingum this spring, especially at Lowell and at the mouth of the river.

Helgrammites are the best

Two-thirds of the total, or 536 fish, were caught on live bait. Helgrammites took 1½ fish per hour, crawfish one per hour, and worms one-half fish per hour. Of the one-third taken on artificial bait, spinners took slightly more than one per hour, plugs and spoons slightly less, and miscellaneous other lures less than one-half fish per hour.

Of the 380 rock bass taken, natural baits accounted for almost three-fourths. Helgrammites took two-thirds fish per hour, worm dunkers one-half, and soft craws one-fourth.

If you have abandoned a boat around any of the southeastern Ohio lakes, you'd better pick it up—or the state will do it for you.

Earl Kinneer, the district law enforcement supervisor, set May 15 as the deadline for abandoned, unnumbered and unlicensed boats to be recovered at Hocking, Veto, Clouse and Monroe lakes.

Kinneer said the abandoned boats, some beached two years or more, are safety hazards and attractive nuisances for youngsters.

Circleville's baseball game scheduled here yesterday with Washington C. H. was postponed due to rain.

If the weather takes a break, the Tiger nine is slated to play Friday at Greenfield.

Pitchers Danny Leonhardt and Sam Weller both are expected to be ready for the Tiger mound assignment.

Walters of Darby Awarded John McPherson Trophy

THOMAS WALTERS

Thomas Walters, Darby Twp. High School's pitching ace, was named winner of the first annual John McPherson Trophy as the outstanding player in the 1960 Pickaway County Baseball League and Tournament.

The 17-year-old senior edged out runner-up Richard Wilcox, Ashville High School No. 1 hurler.

Walters stands 6-1 on the year with only a 12-2 defeat by Ashville in the finals of the County Tournament to mar his record. Wilcox was the victor of this match that saw the Broncos pound Walters from the box in the fifth inning.

Walters has won 19 games as a high school hurler, losing only three. He started his illustrious

Little League Tryouts Slated For Tonight

Circleville Little League officials and managers are hopeful that tryouts will get started at 6 p. m. today in Ted Lewis Park. Rain cancelled tryouts last night.

Twelve-year-old youths are scheduled to try out tonight. Tomorrow at 6 p. m. 13, 14 and 15-year-old boys are slated for Babe Ruth League drills.

Friday at 6 p. m. will be rescheduled tryouts for eight, nine and 10-year-old youths. Saturday at 1 p. m. will be tryouts for 11-year-olds and all boys unable to tryout earlier in the week.

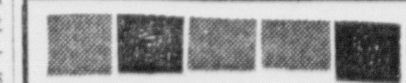

All managers are urged to be on hand for the balance of the tryouts. Major League and Babe Ruth League managers will examine potential players while Minor League managers and parents will be asked to assist in setting up the outfield fence.

PLAYERS and parents alike are reminded that all boys, eight through 12 are eligible for Little League and boys, 13 through 15 are eligible for Babe Ruth League play.

The age-limit deadline is August 1. Any youth turning 13 before August 1 must play Babe Ruth ball. Any youth turning 16 before August 1 is ineligible for Babe Ruth ball.

League officials asked all players to bring their birth information and to report to the park shelter house, not the ball field. All youths must be registered before trying out.

If tryouts are accomplished this week, player selections probably will take place Sunday and teams announced early next week so that managers may start practicing with their ball clubs.

career as a sophomore, winning 4 and losing 2.

HIS TWO losses were to Ashville in the 1958 county tourney finals and to Northwestern in the Class "A" District Tournament.

Last year Walters was invincible, winning 9 and losing none. During his perfect season, he fanned 110 in 48 innings.

This year the all-round athlete has whiffed 105 in 43 innings. He has issued 24 free passes and allowed 18 hits to date.

In addition to his trophy-winning performance in baseball, the crew-cut senior was named to the first team All-County football and basketball squads and was a strong contender for the Bob Bowsher basketball award and David Smith football trophy.

Walters is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walters, Derby. He plans to tryout for the Cleveland Indians baseball team immediately after graduation.

He has a scholarship to Otterbein College for basketball and plans to enter there this fall.

WILCOX was awarded the runner-up trophy on the basis of his superb 7-0 record to date. The senior right-hander seems to pitch better when the pressure is on and makes Ashville a strong contender for district honors.

The McPherson Trophy is named in honor of the popular Darby Twp. football, baseball and basketball coach who died unexpectedly last fall prior to a Darby-Stoutsville gridiron encounter.

The trophy will be rotating. The selection committee for the initial year was headed by Robert Seward, county general supervisor.

Other members were Russell Gregg, Ashville coach; William B. Glenn Chester, Williamsport Coach.

In third place came Unioto 41; Clarksburg 26; Kingston 23 1-3; Frankfort 17; Paint Valley 6 and Huntington 5.

Kingston's Bill Carmean successfully defended his high jump title with a leap of 5' 2". In previous years he had tied for first place.

THE REDSKINS' Tom Edwards placed second in the 100-yard dash. The century was won by Unioto's Larry Lemley who split the tape at :10.3.

Edwards came back with a third in the 22-yard dash, which was won by Lemley in :24.2. Nosing out Edwards was Unioto's Kern.

Kingston's Lauer placed third in the discus. Winner of this field event was Unioto's Wilhelm with a toss of 129' 7 1/2". Danny Vollmar tied for fifth in the pole vault, won by Centralia's Ault and Clarksburg's Bill McDonald at 10' 4".

Carmean nearly scored a double win as he placed second in the broad jump. Winner was Paint Valley's Williams with a jump of 18' 4 1/2". Kingston's 880-yard relay team placed third to Southeastern's winning mark of 3:56.4.

5-Pound Tree-Climbing Bass Snagged in Forked Run Lake

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cliff Miller of Parkersburg, W. Va., was fishing down at Forked Run Lake in Meigs County. He was teasing the bass with artificial lures.

One of his casts draped over a tree limb and snagged. The lure, dangling a few inches above the water, was too big a temptation for a nosy bass—it leaped up and grabbed the bait.

The frantic pulling on both ends of the line pulled it free and Miller landed the bass.

Everett Ridge, wildlife supervisor for the district, vouches for the yarn. He said there were witnesses — and that the dangling fish was photographed.

The payoff: The bass weighed 5 pounds 6 ounces—a pretty good weight for a tree-climbing bass, even in southern Ohio.

Northern pike are appearing for their first time in the Muskingum River, near Duncan Falls. Mark White, fish management supervisor for southeastern Ohio, said 10 of the game fish have been caught there, three on trotlines baited with minnows. The 10 range from 20 to 25 inches long.

White said "these fish probably went over the spillway at Charles counties, or Atwood Reservoir in Tuscarawas and Carroll counties. Stocking headwater lakes always gives the water downstream a shot in the arm."

The supervisor said fishing for crappies and catfish had been particularly good in the Muskingum this spring, especially at Lowell and at the mouth of the river.

Hellgrammites are the best up—or the state will do it for you.

Earl Kinneer, the district law enforcement supervisor, set May 15 as the deadline for abandoned, unnumbered and unlicensed boats to be recovered at Hocking, Veto, Clouse and Monroe lakes.

Kinneer said the abandoned boats, some beached two years or more, are safety hazards and attractive nuisances for youngsters.

Two-thirds of the total, or $36 fish, were caught on live bait. Hellgrammites took 1 1/2 fish per hour, crawfish one per hour, and worms one-half fish per hour. Of the one-third taken on artificial bait, spinners took slightly more than one per hour, plugs and spoons slightly less, and miscellaneous other lures less than one-half fish per hour.

Of the 389 rock bass taken, natural baits accounted for almost three-fourths. Hellgrammites took two-thirds fish per hour, worm dunks one-half, and soft craws one fourth.

SPORTS BRIEFS

CHICAGO (AP)—Rain and cold weather kept the Cincinnati Reds idle Tuesday, but team brass were hard at work.

Manager Fred Hutchinson and General Manager Gabe Paul in a closed door conference mulled over which player to cut to reach the maximum of 25 permitted after midnight tonight.

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A football tournament to determine a national champion is a "possibility," says Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rumors of trades again revolve around the Cleveland Indians locker room.

There has been no report that General Manager Frank (Trader) Lane has told his Tribesmen to continue sending out their laundry — a remark he makes occasionally when the trading itch subsides. So, anything could happen.

All Cincy Students Offered Polio Vaccine

CINCINNATI (AP)—School and City Health Department officials plan to offer Sabin live-virus polio vaccine to public school students in all grades, starting Monday. But they must volunteer through their parents. The vaccine, developed by Dr. Albert Sabin of the University of Cincinnati, has not been licensed for public distribution, but an estimated 70,000 Cincinnatians, mostly pre-school-age youngsters, were inoculated in experimental tests last month.

Airplanes So Extreme Now They're No Longer 'Planes'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Remember when an airplane was just called an airplane? Or maybe once in a while a "ship"?

Not any more. When it comes to military airplanes, anyway, the term is more likely to be "weapons system" (even "sophisticated weapons system," if it's really complicated) or "test bed."

A look at some of the present day jets being used for experiments at Wright - Patterson Air Force Base suggests the reason. They don't look anything like the airplanes of a decade ago.

In some cases, they scarcely look like airplanes.

The F104 Starfighter, for example, can climb to almost 100,000 feet and has traveled more than 1,400 m.p.h., yet its wing tips extend only 7 1/2 feet from the fuselage.

Wright Air Development Division is using a two-seat version of the missile - carrying interceptor for experiments in eating during zero gravity. The F104 is put through a climb, dive and climb again maneuver like a roller coaster to make centrifugal force balance the force of gravity for a few seconds of the weightlessness man expects to encounter during space travel.

Or take the F100F, a two-seater version of the swept-wing, supersonic jet fighter which used to be manufactured at Columbus. (It's no longer in production.) Forty-seven feet long, it — like most modern jet fighters — is about as long as some of the medium bombers of World War II and Korea.

In experiments here, the F100F has been rigged with a thrust reverser, which qualifies it for the name "test bed." The idea is to permit the pilot of a 4,000 m.p.h. rocket ship like the X15 to return to earth steeply, yet not excessively fast. It's something on the order of reversing the propellers to slow an airliner when it lands.

The reverser was bent on one occasion when the F100F suddenly veered as it rounded out for a landing here, but the pilot in the front cockpit (who, it's explained, "is there to fly if he has to while the fellow in the rear tries to do it by punching buttons") saved the plane.

Also in use here are an F101 (67 1/2 feet long, capable of doing better than 1,200 m.p.h.), used at the moment to study an automatic pilot which can keep a jet at the same altitude without adjustment despite changes in speed, and a delta-wing F102 which is being flown in thunderstorm areas and to test an instrument system that may be easier to read.

Also on display for members of the weapons-conscious American Ordnance Assn. during the week was an F105, another swept wing (34-foot span), supersonic (1,400 m.p.h.) capable like most of the others of delivering more firepower than the U.S. Air Force during World War II. It's just being phased into the Air Force inventory.

This impressive collection of delta-wing (F100, F102 and F105) and stub-wing (F104) jets has yet another name: The Century Series. This, because each has a numerical designation of 100 or higher. (The F is for fighter).

But the pilots and ground crews, as usual, have the last word — or nickname. They have their own names for individual planes, but collectively they call these awesome aerial weapons simply "birds."

Bids Opened On 29 Ohio Highway Jobs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Highway Department Tuesday received low bids totaling $3,657,621 for 29 highway projects covering 140 miles of construction and resurfacing in 22 counties.

The total apparent low bids, combined with $1,388,200 for right-of-way and an estimated $319,910 for engineering and contingencies, yields an estimated final cost of $5,365,731 for all projects.

The bid opening, seventh of the year, brings to about 64 million dollars the total value of all projects sold since Jan. 1. Since the beginning of 1959, a total of 259 millions in highway construction and maintenance work has been placed under contract. The next bid-letting is set for May 24.

Here is a breakdown on major projects offered at Tuesday's sessions:

Clinton County: Widening and resurfacing of one-half mile of Ohio 73 between Nelson Avenue and Main Street in Wilmington. Clinton Asphalt Paving Co. of Wilmington submitted apparent low bid of $158,571. State estimate $155,600.

Fayette and Ross counties: Sixteen miles of widening and resurfacing of U.S. 35 between Washington Court House and Frankfort. Brewer & Sons Inc. of Chillicothe submitted apparent low bid of $443,680. State estimate was $393,900.

Clinton and Warren counties: Resurfacing total of 17 miles of Ohio 132 and 350 near Clarksville. John R. Jurgensen of Newton submitted apparent low bid of $113,833. State estimate was $131,260.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook: Skies remained cloudy over Ohio this morning, but rain was not as general.

Temperatures early this morning ranged from 38 at Bellaire and Youngstown to 40 at Columbus and 43 at Chesapeake.

Rainfall amounts on Tuesday ranged from .3 to .5 inch over the state.

A low pressure area over northern Ohio and Michigan seems to be weakening this morning, but another low in forming in Missouri. Precipitation will be light and more intermittent over the state today, but the cool weather will continue tonight and Thursday.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average 7 to 12 degrees below normal. Normal high 69 north to 71 south, normal low 48-51. Cool through Saturday, warmer Sunday and Monday. Precipitation will total one - quarter inch or less in occasional rain Thursday and again about Sunday or Monday.

Some jet aircraft carry a 25-man-HiE raft which inflates in nine seconds. Deflated, it is small, but carries food, water and first-aid kit.

Views on Television-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—All the public agitation about excessive violence in the television action shows—the horse operas, the private eyes and the adventure shows—is beginning to show results.

The hour-long mystery series which will be NBC's summer replacement for the Dinah Shore show is making a special point of eliminating excessive violence. This is all very nice, but it also raises a question. When does violence become excessive violence? Is it violence or is it excessive violence when the hero is felled by a chop on the back of the neck. Or when the hero cuts down the villain by the same method? How many non-excessive punches and kicks is the villain allowed before the hero shakes his head and uncorks his roundhouse right?

Probably the delicate point won't be established during the summer. But fall, with its new shows, ought to bring a diminution of mayhem. The word has already gone out that sponsors are getting nervous about the criticism.

The program note made "a courtly bow" to Mark Twain and his Connecticut Yankee as a peaking Tennesseean visited King's Arthur's court on NBC Tuesday night, courtesy of a Buck Rogers time machine.

Ernie Ford was transported to Camelot, but they didn't have to make heroic King Arthur a buffoon and all the glorious knights of the round table drunken, ruel louts.

The comedy special, however, was beautifully produced and hand-tailored to Ernie's country-style idiom, and humor.

Recommended tonight: "Music for a Spring Night," ABC, 7:30-8:30 (Eastern Daylight Time)—Folk singing with Miriam Makeba of South Africa; Circle Theatre, CBS, 10-11—"Separate Parents," a drama about post-divorce problems of parents and children.

Thug Orders Doughnuts Plus Bakery's Dough

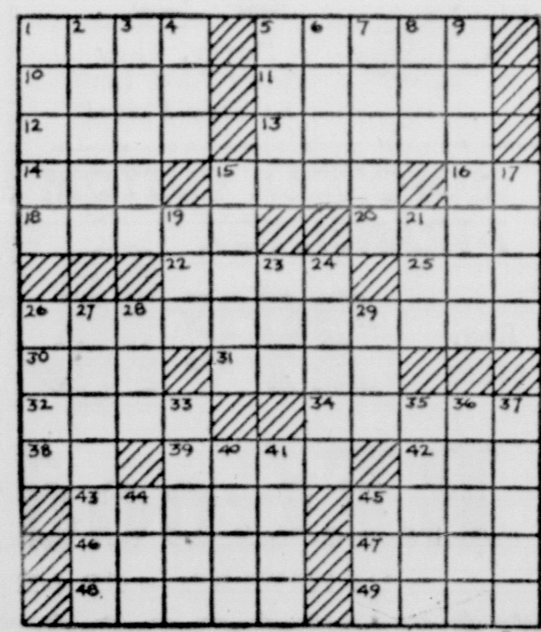

CINCINNATI (AP) — A bandit ordered a dozen doughnuts and all the money in the cash register at a central Cincinnati bakery Tuesday night.

Mrs. Cynthia Freese, 53, said she was forced to put doughnuts and $86 in cash into a paper bag while the man had his hand in his pocket, as if grasping a gun. Then he fled.

But the pilots and ground crews, as usual, have the last word—or nickname. They have their own names for individual planes, but collectively they call these awesome aerial weapons simply "birds."

Bids Opened On 29 Ohio Highway Jobs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Highway Department Tuesday received low bids totaling $3,657,621 for 29 highway projects covering 140 miles of construction and resurfacing in 22 counties.

The total apparent low bids, combined with $1,388,200 for right-of-way and an estimated $319,910 for engineering and contingencies, yields an estimated final cost of $5,365,731 for all projects.

The bid opening, seventh of the year, brings to about 64 million dollars the total value of all projects sold since Jan. 1. Since the beginning of 1959, a total of 259 millions in highway construction and maintenance work has been placed under contract. The next bid-letting is set for May 24.

Here is a breakdown on major projects offered at Tuesday's sessions:

Clinton County: Widening and resurfacing of one-half mile of Ohio 73 between Nelson Avenue and Main Street in Wilmington. Clinton Asphalt Paving Co. of Wilmington submitted apparent low of $158,571. State estimate $155,600.

Payette and Ross counties: Sixteen miles of widening and resurfacing of U.S. 35 between Washington Court House and Frankfort. Brewer & Brewer Sons Inc. of Chillicothe submitted apparent low bid of $443,680. State estimate was $393,900.

Clinton and Warren counties: Resurfacing total of 17 miles of Ohio 132 and 350 near Clarksville. John R. Jurgensen of Newton submitted apparent low bid of $113,833. State estimate was $131,260.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Skies remained cloudy over Ohio this morning, but rain was not as general.

Temperatures early this morning ranged from 38 at Bellair and Youngstown to 40 at Columbus and 43 at Chesapeake.

Rainfall amounts on Tuesday ranged from .3 to .5 inch over the state.

A low pressure area over northern Ohio and Michigan seems to be weakening this morning, but another low in forming in Missouri. Precipitation will be lighter and more intermittent over the state today, but the cool weather will continue tonight and Thursday.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average 7 to 12 degrees below normal. Normal high 69 north to 71 south, normal low 48-51. Cool through Saturday, warmer Sunday and Monday. Precipitation will total one-quarter inch or less in occasional rain Thursday and again about Sunday or Monday.

Some jet aircraft carry a 25-man-life raft which inflates in nine seconds. Deflated, it is small, but carries food, water and first-aid kit.

EXPLODED TO STREET—Firemen aid two buddies in New York after a pocket of gas exploded them out of second floor of a burning tenement. They were taken to hospital.

Views on Television-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—All the public agitation about excessive violence in the television action shows—the horse operas, the private eyes and the adventure shows—is beginning to show results.

The hour-long mystery series which will be NBC's summer replacement for the Dinah Shore show is making a special point of eliminating excessive violence.

This is all very nice, but it also raises a question. When does violence become excessive violence? Is it violence or is it excessive violence when the hero is felled by a chop on the back of the neck. Or when the hero cuts down the villain by the same method? How many non-excessive punches and kicks is the villain allowed before the hero shakes his head and uncorks his roundhouse right?

Probably the delicate point won't be established during the summer.

But fall, with its new shows, ought to bring a diminution of mayhem. The word has already gone out that sponsors are getting nervous about the criticism.

The program note made "a courtly bow" to Mark Twain and his Connecticut Yankee as a peacocking Tennesseean visited King's Arthur's court on NBC Tuesday night, courtesy of a Buck Rogers time machine.

Ernie Ford was transported to Camelot, but they didn't have to make heroic King Arthur a buffoon and all the glorious knights of the round table drunken, ruel louts.

The comedy special, however, was beautifully produced and hand-tailored to Ernie's country-style idiom and humor.

Recommended tonight: "Music for a Spring Night," ABC, 7:30-8:30 (Eastern Daylight Time). Folk singing with Miriam Makeba of South Africa; Circle Theatre, CBS, 10-11—"Separate Parents," a drama about post-divorce problems of parents and children.

Thug Orders Doughnuts Plus Bakery's Dignity

CINCINNATI (AP)—A bandit ordered a dozen doughnuts and the money in the cash register at a central Cincinnati bakery Tuesday night.

Mrs. Cynthia Freese, 53, said she was forced to put doughnuts and $85 in cash into a paper bag while the man had his hand in his pocket, as if grasping a gun. Then he fled.

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. Arthur Deal Jr.
Phone YU 3-4117

The Ashville senior girls were honored guests Thursday evening when the Ashville Women's Civic Club played host to them at a special program.

The affair was held in the social room of the First English Lutheran Church. The room was decorated throughout with bouquets of tulips. An arrangement with tall tapered decorated the punch table.

Special music was furnished by the "Two-by-Fours", a men's quartet from Ashville. Those comprising the quartet were Chester Peters, Jack Lemon, Richard Cook and Donald Flierl. They sang "Hello to Everyone", "I Had a Dream" and "Lida Rose" with Miss Mary Lockwood, a senior student, singing the solo part.

Mrs. Felix Dore presented the devotions from an article written by Kathryn Marshall, wife of the late Peter Marshall, "Woman's Search for God." Sgt. and Mrs. William Trimble showed and narrated colored slides, taken while on duty in Europe. They also brought along many souvenirs including a large doll collection from foreign countries.

The girls then were served cookies, nuts and punch. Pouring the punch were Mrs. Donald Flierl, club president, and Mrs. Alfred Ake.

After the refreshments the club members held their monthly meeting. The club voted to make a donation to the Ashville Band Booster Club to help support its calendar project. It was decided also to sponsor a poster contest among the school children to remind the citizens of Ashville not to be "Litterbugs", and ways to keep the town cleaner.

THE CLUB also voted to hold their skating program again this summer for six weeks in July and August and to sponsor a junior girl from Ashville school to attend Girl's State.

A letter was read from the Pickaway County Women's Club, inviting the club to attend an open meeting on May 8 to be held in the Trustee Room at the Pickaway County Library.

Mrs. Robert Bausum, hospitality chairman, announced that the June dinner meeting and installation of officers will be held at Lake White Club on June 2. The women were to meet at the Ashville Methodist Church at 5:30 p. m. Reservations must be made no later than May 31.

Mrs. Curtis Cromley, co-chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, announced that several pounds of pecans are still available. Anyone desiring to purchase them may do so by calling or stopping at Mrs. Cromley's. There will be no more ordered from the South until late this fall.

The sixth grade class of Ashville School, with their teacher, Mrs. Felix Dore, took their annual trip to Columbus to visit places of interest last Thursday. They left the school at 8:45 a. m. in a bus driven by Roy Kreiger with the following mothers: Mrs. Donald Flierl, Mrs. Oscar Pettibone, Mrs. James Reed, Mrs. Thomas Rife, Mrs. Lowell Ridenour, Mrs. Gale Sawyer, Mrs. Dan Scarberry, Mrs. William Snyder, and Mrs. Roy Kreiger.

Their first stop was the Wesleyan Press where they saw the Weekly Reader being printed and shipped. Here each was given a souvenir scratch pad.

From here they went to the Ohio State Football Stadium where they enjoyed eating their sack lunches and looking the stadium over. In the afternoon they visited the Ohio State Museum.

The Miriam Circle of the First English Lutheran Church will meet at 8 p. m., tomorrow in the home of Mrs. Harry Trego, just north of Ashville.

The Mother and Daughter Banquet of the Evangelical United Brethren Church will be held at 6:30 p. m. Thursday in the church basement. The men of the church will serve the meal.

The Bastian Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: Monday, May 2 took Mrs. Anna Messick to Mercy Hospital and Thursday, May 5 returned Mrs. Cynthia Hicks home from White Cross Hospital.

Mrs. Art Deal Jr. was guest Monday evening of the Columbus South-East Lions Club Auxiliary when it honored past presidents. A dinner was held at 7 p. m. at the Fiesta Club on Champion Ave. Mrs. Deal served as president of the group in 1957-58.

The Ashville Methodist Daily Vacation Church School will be held from May 31 through June 10. Classes are being arranged for all from age 4 through the 8th grade. Hours will be from 9 a. m. until 11 a. m. each day except Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. Lowell Ridenour is general chairman of the school.

MISS SUSAN Rogers and her mother Mrs. Glenn Rogers will play an arrangement for two pianos and Glenn Flierl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Flierl, will play a piano solo in the piano recital to be presented Wednesday evening by the students of Mrs. Wilma Masters of Groveport. The recital will be held in Wagnall's Memorial in Lithopolis.

Mrs. Ethel Fridley, E. Main St., suffered a stroke in her home Sunday. She is being cared for at home.

Cincy Pacifist Again Defies Federal Court

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Rev. Maurice McCrackin has failed to show up in U.S. District Court again in another case involving his refusal to pay income tax.

The case involves government efforts to collect $5,078 from the $11,790 estate left by the minister's mother to him and a sister.

The sister, Mrs. Julia Watson, is also a defendant.

Judge Carl Weinman agreed to hear arguments in the case Thursday.

The government wants the money for taxes it claims the minister refused to pay up to 1958. The Rev. Mr. McCrackin says he has not paid part or all of his taxes since 1949 because it helps pay for military weapons.

He served a six month federal prison term last year on conviction for ignoring a summons to talk over his taxes.

In that case, he refused to take any part in his defense and forced court aides to carry him in and out of court.
